A MEETING THAT HURRIES YOU

I praise these preparatory catecheses for WYD 2023, those who created and propose them, those who will carry them out as catechists or catechizers. In one way or another, everyone will participate in the movement of Mary, from the Annunciation to the Visitation. Everyone will rise up and go with haste.

Because it is all about rising up. From the little house in Nazareth, Mary went through the mountain of Judea to the house of Elizabeth. She was carrying Jesus, who was carrying her. Jesus, who does not let those who continue receiving Him stop, like the seed that rises up from the ground and grows to bear fruit for all.

From WYD to WYD, a multitude of youth have also risen, carrying out the Jesus they received there to many. They participated in the rising up of Mary, who is the model of the Church always, as she receives and carries Jesus, over all the mountains of this world. Beyond there are always those who wait.

These catecheses are also dynamic because by participating on them the youth both receive and become prepared to go out. And to go out with haste because Jesus responds and urges. The catechesis proves itself in this way: whoever encounters Jesus finds a path to follow – with haste, but not anxiously, as Pope Francis was keen to remind us, because we already have Jesus. And the hurry is to share Him, so that we and others may have Him even more.

This is how St. Paul summed up his journey, from his encounter with the Risen One on the road to Damascus, to the road he never stopped walking to proclaim Him to all and to reach Him more in others: “I only press on, in hope of winning the mastery, as Christ Jesus has won the mastery over me.” (Letter to the Philippians, 3:12).

And first of all, there is Mary, the Mother that Christ wanted to share with us. In these two millennia there have been many signs of how she maternally accompanies us all, and also without delay. The Seers of Fatima, who will be so close to our WYD, can witness to that!

I repeat – the catechesis proves itself through mission. The very word “catechesis” has to do with the “echo” of what is heard and transmitted. And the echo of these catecheses will surely resound with haste through the hills and valleys of this world, through the height and depth of so many other hearts.

Cardinal Patriarch of Lisbon

INTRODUCTION

The "Rise Up" itinerary: general aspects

Rise up! is the name of the itinerary directed to youth for them to prepare spiritually for WYD Lisbon 2023. It proposes a path for deepening and rediscovering the Christian faith based on the verb "to rise". Suggesting a great harmony between the itinerary for WYD in Lisbon and the post-synodal path, Pope Francis challenges youth not to ignore the voice of God, who urges them to rise up and follow the paths He has prepared for each one. Commenting on the theme chosen for WYD 2023, "Mary arose and went with haste" (Lk 1:39), the Pope invites youth to be like Mary, and along with her, bearers of God's joy and love. At the 11th International Youth Forum, dedicated to the Synod and the Apostolic Exhortation Christ is Alive, he announced the themes chosen for World Youth Day 2020: "Young man, I say to you, arise!" (Lk 7: 14) and 2021: "Stand up. I appoint you a witness of what you have seen" (Acts 26:16).

The catechetical itinerary follows the themes proposed by the Holy Father for the preparation of WYD Lisbon 2023, journeying through the writings of St. Luke, his Gospel and the Book of the Acts of the Apostles. It analyses the most significant passages of the Bible with the verb "rise up" as used to describe the action of standing up – as a sign of the salvific intervention of God in Jesus Christ – or of becoming a witness and announcer of his Word. Underlying Luke's project is the journey of the Word – from Galilee to Jerusalem (the Gospel) and from Jerusalem to the ends of the Earth (the Acts). This journey highlights the central idea of a Church that is always going forth on mission.

Evangelization was in fact the Pope's response to the Cardinal Patriarch of Lisbon, when asked about the content of the World Youth Day in Lisbon in 2023. "He said one word and he said it slowly – Evangelization," Bishop Manuel Clemente told the youth. The Holy Father hopes the WYD in Lisbon to be one of "active and missionary evangelization on the part of youth, who will recognize and witness the presence of the living Christ".

This itinerary is for all youth who see the WYD as an opportunity to rediscover the joy and beauty of believing in Jesus, to be friends with Him, to recognize Him in their Church and to proclaim Him to those who do not know Him or have withdrawn themselves from Him.

Besides implementing the catecheses for the preparation of the WYD Lisbon 2023, some meetings should be set aside to read and study the Pope's messages for each year. This itinerary has the following objectives:

- To be in contact with the path of Jesus in the Gospel and of the evangelizing Church.
- To discover the great proclamation of salvation as an experience of "rising up".
- To have a personal confrontation with the Word of God, by analyzing one's life and real situations.
- To live the new life of the Risen Jesus, by committing to human and spiritual growth (human virtues and practice of Christian life) and by personally committing to live among the community of the Church, to transform service in the world, and to missionary spirit.

Considering the episode of the disciples on the road to Emmaus (Lk 24:13-35), the intention is that each youth should experience the same attitude in the Church that Jesus had with these two disciples.

"Jesus walks with the two disciples who, unable to understand the meaning of what had happened to Him, withdraw from Jerusalem and the community. To be in their company, He walks the road with them. He questions them and listens patiently to their version of events, to help them understand what they are experiencing. Then, with affection and energy, he proclaims the Word to them, leading them to interpret the events they have lived through in the light of the Scriptures. He accepts their invitation to stay with them in the evening: he enters their night. While they listen to him, their hearts burn and their minds are enlightened; in the breaking of the bread, their eyes without delay, to return to the community and share the experience of encountering the Risen One.

15th Ordinary Assembly of the Synod of Bishops, Final Doc. 4

Accompanying the youth

The story of the disciples of Emmaus is presented as an example for mentoring the youth. The entire Christian community, including families, youth group leaders, priests and religious, contributes for the mentoring. During the Synod, it was the youth themselves who indicated the characteristics they wished for spiritual mentor:

"The qualities of such a mentor include: being a faithful Christian who engages with the Church and the world; someone who constantly seeks holiness; someone who is a confidant without judging. Similarly, someone who actively listens to the needs of youth and responds in kind; someone deeply loving and self-aware; someone who recognizes his or her limits and knows the joys and sorrows of the spiritual journey. An especially important quality in mentors is the acknowledgement of their own humanity – the fact that they are human beings who make mistakes: not perfect people but forgiven sinners. Sometimes mentors are put on a pedestal, and when they fall, it may have a devastating impact on youth's ability to continue to engage with the Church. Mentors should not lead youth as passive followers, but walk alongside them, allowing them to be active participants in the journey. They should respect the freedom that comes with a young person's process of discernment and equip them with tools to do so well. A mentor should believe wholeheartedly in a young person's ability to participate in the life of the Church. A mentor should therefore nurture the seeds of faith in youth, without expecting to immediately see the fruits of the work of the Holy Spirit."

Pope Francis,
Christus Vivit, 246

The mentor must master the art of listening, while helping the youth to grow in freedom and responsibility, to discern the path of their life. This art assumes that the mentor is sensitive to the person, to discernment, and to listening to what drives the person forward (CV 291-294).

Paying attention to the person "(...) is a matter of listening to someone who is sharing his very self in what he says. A sign of this willingness to listen is the time we are ready to spare for others. More than the amount of time we spend, it is about making others feel that my time is their time, that they have all the time they need to say everything they want. The other person must sense that I am listening unconditionally, without being offended or shocked, tired or bored" (CV 292).

Paying attention to discernment. "It tries to grasp exactly where grace or temptation is present (...). This kind of listening seeks to discern the salutary promptings of the good Spirit who proposes to us the Lord's truth, but also the traps laid by the evil spirit – his empty works and promises. It takes courage, warmth and tact to help others distinguish the truth from illusions or excuses" (CV 293).

Paying attention to what drives the person forward. "This calls for a deeper kind of listening, one able to discern the direction in which that person truly wants to move (...) This kind of listening seeks to discern their ultimate intention, the intention that definitively decides the meaning of their life. Jesus knows and appreciates this ultimate intention of the heart. He is always there, ready to help each of us to recognize it. We need but say to him: 'Lord, save me! Have mercy on me!'" (CV 294).

Following a project as a method

The recent Synod of Bishops on Youth emphasized the need to develop "complete pastoral processes that lead to adulthood and insertion into the Christian community" (Final Document 16). As Pope Francis recommends, following a project for a method aims to "raise up and accompany processes, not impose paths" as to "create projects that do not isolate youth from the family and the world, but that strengthen them, accompany them, and launch them toward others in generous service and mission." (CV 30 & 297).

Based on the itinerary of each catechesis, the youth are invited to develop projects that may continuously make them missionary disciples. Hence the project can be integrated into each youth's living context and position towards the world (having a group life, belonging to the Christian community, serving the poorest, promoting the common good and the integral ecology, explicitly proclaiming the kerygma and cultural dialogue). Based on what they see and recognize, the youth are invited to discern and interpret their experience as being friends with Jesus and to make personal and group choices that make them agents of change.

The projects aim to help each youth learn by doing. The interpretation of what they live, and experience is decisive to the steps that they are called to take forward. The projects also educate the youth for an integral ecology, since they connect the fundamental relationships of human existence, the relationship with oneself, with others, with God, and with the Earth. They develop teamwork, stimulate creative ability, encourage the development of skills, help to grow and to discern one's own vocation. They put the youth in a permanent state of mission towards the peripheries of the World (FD 127). The project pedagogy foresees the elaboration of service and evangelization projects that are articulated in six steps (RIICDC): 1) Recognize; 2) Interpret; 3) Imagine; 4) Choose; 5) Do; 6) Celebrate.

Considering the current pandemic situation, that may hinder group service activities, in this first year the personal life project suggests that the youth seek, discern, and find God's will.

A generative and transformative itinerary

By welcoming the invitation to a missionary transformation of its actions, the Portuguese Church, already making its way to the WYD 2023, proposes a generative and transformative itinerary for all youth. The project aims to make WYD an opportunity to undertake paths of pastoral renewal among the younger generations. Following the theme for the WYD 2023 – “Mary arose and went with haste” –, this itinerary will make youth the protagonists of a strong spiritual practice and of missionary experiences of service to others.

The generative dimension of this itinerary aims to create the right environment for new youth groups to be born in our Christian communities. Regarding this point of view, the community is then called to go out to seek for the youth, and to create the best conditions for the groups to exist, by providing them with a welcoming and familiar atmosphere. Youth have a special role to play in this process of calling other youth.

The youth groups are to be created as open Christian communities with a pilgrimage spirit, and shall develop three essential dimensions of Christian life, around the figure of the missionary disciple, always based on the itinerary:

- To become a disciple and build the vocational and relational dimension of Christian life, with God and with others (Year 1).
- To be a disciple for others and found oneself as called to the missionary service to others (Year 2).
- To be a missionary disciple and welcome the call to witness faith (Year 3).

The transforming dimension aims for the youth a) to be aware that they are disciples, by becoming very close to the Lord and paying attention to their will (Year 1); b) to take action in the transformation of the world by being aware of the several human contexts and by serving others (mystagogy) (Year 2), and c) to evangelize other youth through the annunciation of the Gospel (kerygma) (Year 3).

In this matter it is highlighted the relevance of art in youth's evangelization method. The interpretation of classical works or contemporary canvases that illustrate biblical texts “can help to experience an encounter with God through the contemplation of His beauty. They are, in fact, images that bring to those who contemplate them the gaze of an invisible Other, giving access to the reality of the spiritual and eschatological world.” (DC 209)

The structure for each meeting

Each meeting in the Rise Up itinerary is made up of nine moments that intend to offer an encounter with Jesus Himself through His word. The meetings follow the classic methodology of spiritual discernment in group – that is recognize, interpret, and choose. And the starting point for each meeting is the experience of personal and community life that is illuminated through listening, welcoming and praying of God's Word. This life experience demands the transformation of one's own existence and of the world. The nine moments for each catechesis are:

Get ready: The meeting begins with this moment, which objective is to introduce them to the spirit of the meeting. This is intended to be a moment to welcome each individual and the group, and must be accompanied, whenever possible, with group dynamics that promotes interaction among participants.

Listen: Listening to God's Word immediately follows the previous moment. This is the core the entire meeting. It is Jesus Himself who speaks to us and offers Himself as the Word of Salvation. The proclamation and listening to the Word of God should be anticipated, as much as possible, by a moment of silence. I must be made sure that the reading is carefully done. After the reading, the leader must contextualize the text with the information provided in the guide, so that the youth can reread the text in silence and deepen their understanding by searching for the main message. The next step of the meeting suggests the youth to relate the message found in the text to our days.

Receive: This is the moment when the youth are challenged to confront what they heard in the Word of God with their own lives. This confrontation is supported by a testimony of a young person who shares, in a video, his experience and leaves them with some questions.

Ask yourself: The youth are called to respond to the challenges launched in the previous moment. The youth must be given a time for silence and pondering so that they can question their own lives through the Word of God.

Share: After this moment the youth are challenged to share in group. Everyone is invited to share some aspects of their prayer and pondering.

Pray: The experience of communion continues when the group is invited to pray together.

Rise Up: The meeting finishes with a challenge for each youth or for the group where they must commit to something transforming. Rise up! The invitation to live standing up is the great proposal of the itinerary of preparation for the World Youth Day. Therefore, this is a moment that must have a lot of motivation and especially mentored by the leader

Keep going: This moment holds a proposal for deepening the faith experienced individually or in group.

Yes, I believe! is a brief note from the Catechism of the Catholic Church that sums up what was proposed by the meeting. It gives strength to what was experienced in the light of the faith of the Church that youth are called to profess.

At the end of each meeting, there is a step for creating a "personal life project" that requires proper accompaniment by the leaders. s.

Information for the leaders

- The youth group leaders are the first recipients of the Rise Up catechesis. Before preparing each meeting, they must read and meditate on the respective biblical text and try to accept the challenges it presents. To enter more deeply into the dynamics of the proposed theme, the leaders must read the content of the meeting beforehand, translating it as much as possible into the reality of their group. The meeting must take place in a fraternal and welcoming atmosphere of prayer, recollection, and silence.

- If possible, the leaders must prepare the meetings in group. If the youth themselves prepare the meetings, they will feel more confident with the generous and friendly mentoring of the leaders.
- One of the central elements of the catecheses is the Bible. Youth are encouraged to bring it with them. Although the biblical texts are in the script, they are proclaimed from the Bible (this guide is supported by the New Advent translation version).
- For each catechesis, there is a drawing that illustrates the biblical text and introduces the dynamics of rising up through a game with small strips of paper. The strips arise and move to another place, introducing the logic of moving and questioning. Each drawing is supported by a video that must be used when the leader finds most appropriate. There is a video and a document that explain the meaning of all this, and they are both entitled "A drawing that arises".
- It is relevant to articulate the rhythm of each group with the dynamics of the respective parish and diocese.
- In this journey, the youth must feel like missionaries to other youth, inviting them to participate in this itinerary.
- The catecheses are planned to take place monthly from November 2021 to July 2022. Each catechesis can also be divided into several meetings, depending on the rhythm of each group.
- These meetings were designed to take place in a face-to-face setting, so in case this is not possible, the leaders must find a way to adapt anything using available digital platforms and resources.
- The youth's Rise Up journal is in editable format, so the youth can write directly into the document.
- Handout materials will be available on the WYD Lisbon 2023 website.

PRESENTING LUKE

Luke, a passionate evangelizer

Mary arose and went with haste (Lk 1:39)

This attitude marks the beginning of the pilgrimage of the Son of God in the world of men: having welcomed Jesus, Mary does not stay at home; she arises and leaves, taking the Savior with Her.

Luke writes his story in two parts (the Gospel and the Book of Acts) and presents the attitude of the Mother of the Lord to the addressee of the story: Theophilus (Lk 1:3; Acts 1:1). This is a Greek name that means “friend of God”.

This way, those who consider themselves “friends of God” – that is those who have received Jesus as a Savior (Lk 1:4; cf. 2:11) – shall face the fundamental attitude that characterizes a disciple – to rise and go. And to do so like Mary – taking Jesus, not as mere matter, but as experienced salvation.

The verb to “rise” is very dear to Luke and has a deep meaning, since it is used (in the passive voice) to speak of the resurrection. To rise implies, therefore, to be “resurrected” by God to a new life, and at the same time be inwardly ready to depart from the previous existential situation to follow the path of God’s salvific project.

The theme of the way is fundamental in the work of Luke. John the Baptist is there announced and he even presents himself as the one who comes to “prepare the way of the Lord” (Lk 1:76; 7:27; 3:4ff); Mary, the model of a believer, goes out “with haste” (Lk 1:39); Jesus, who came to “guide our steps towards a path of peace” (Lk 1:79; 20:21) opens this path, which is the path of God (Lk 20:21), with his own life, going through it himself (4:30, 32; 7:6; 8:1; 9:51, 53, 56, 57; 10:38; 13:22, 33; 17:11; 19:28, 36; 22:22) until the fullness of life in the resurrection (Acts 1:10ff; 2:28). After the resurrection, Jesus, “who has made known to us the ways of life” (Acts 2:28) continues journeying with His disciples (Lk 24:32) and is the protagonist of the Church’s journey. The theme of the path summarizes the entire work and reason for being of the Church (Acts 9:2; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22) that is called to live and announce Him as the path to salvation (Acts 16:17; cf. 18:26). No one can interrupt this journey because it is led by the Holy Spirit (Acts 5:33-30; 13:10; 16:7).

It is the journey of the Word, the Gospel of salvation: from Galilee to Jerusalem (described in the first part, the Gospel), and from Jerusalem to the ends of the earth (Acts), which we can present schematically as follows:

Prologue (Lk 1:1–4)

Introduction: From Heaven to Earth (Lk 1:5-4,13)

A. Galilee (Lk. 4:14 - 9:50)

B. Journey to Jerusalem through Samaria and Judea (Lk 9:51 - 19:40)

C. Jerusalem (Lk 19:41 - 24:49)

D. Ascension (Lk 24:50-51)

D¹ Ascension (Acts 1:4-11) CENTER

C¹ Jerusalem (Acts 1:12 - 8:1a)

B¹ Judea and Samaria (Acts 8:1b - 11:18)

A¹ “To the ends of the earth” (Acts 11:19 - 28:31)

In the Gospel, Luke narrates how the way was prepared in the OT and begun, lived and fulfilled in Jesus' earthly mission, which, although ending in the ascension, will only reach its fullness at his last coming. Meanwhile, as described in the book of Acts (which begins precisely where the Gospel ends, with the ascension), the glorious Lord continues his action through the mission of the Church, the witness which, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, it is sent to give to the ends of the earth (Acts 1:1-11; cf. Lk 24:47-49). The mission given by Jesus, then, is not only to proclaim the good news, but to be witnesses (Lk 24:48; Acts 1:8) of the Gospel received and personally lived as salvation.

This is what Luke calls evangelizing – it is the purpose of rising and going. The mission of every disciple of Jesus remains the same as it was in the first hour, when the Lord sent the first 72 “to go ahead of Him, to every city and place where He was about to go” (Lk 10:1). Thus, rising up and get going is the same as putting oneself on Jesus' saving and, consequently, evangelizing path. That is why the Book of Acts presents us with the early Church, particularly Peter and the Apostles who strongly committed to doing what Jesus commanded them to do. Luke tells us in a succession of episodes about the power of God's Word that cannot suffocate even in adversity. On the contrary, the setbacks are transformed, by the action of the Holy Spirit, into new opportunities for the journey of salvation to move forward. The persecution moved by the Jerusalem authorities against the disciples forces them to flee, becomes a favorable opportunity to spread the Gospel even further (Acts 8:4; 11:20). Among them is the deacon Philip, who evangelizes Samaria (Acts 8:11,25) and then the coastal area until Caesarea. Finally, we find Paul, “the chosen instrument” to carry the name of the Lord Jesus “to the pagans, kings, and the children of Israel” (Acts 9:15; 22:21).

By ending his work with the arrival of Paul in Rome, imprisoned for spreading the Word, Luke challenges the reader – today's Theophilus (friend of God) – to receive the witness from the hands of the Apostle and to continue the mission that the Lord Jesus has entrusted His Church with, to extend the way of salvation to the ends of the earth (Acts 1:8; cf. Lk 24:47). Jesus does not want to have admirers, nor fans, but disciples and friends, to whom, just like He did to Paul, He keeps saying: “Stand up! I appoint you as a witness of what you have seen!” (Acts 26:16).

MEETING #0

Rise up and get on your way

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To motivate youth to spiritually prepare themselves for WYD Lisbon.
- To present the catechetical itinerary of preparation for WYD Lisbon.
- To recognize oneself as the heir of St. Luke's writings.

Information for the leader:

The purpose of this initial meeting is to introduce the youth to the itinerary they will follow until World Youth Day Lisbon 2023. The content addressed in this meeting can be the basis of future approaches in case more youth join the groups. The symbol that accompanies the meeting is the Marian icon that the group is invited to build and welcome.

Necessary material:

- Pieces of papers with typical phrases of the nations where WYD has already taken place.
- Papers with cities and year of WYD.
- Video about WYD.
- Ribbons for writing names.
- Icon of Our Lady Salus Populi Romani.
- Pieces of paper with the cities that received WYDs with year.

GET READY

Ready to get going

- The meeting begins with a game for the youth to introduce themselves or simply to work as a "ice-breaker".
- The group is divided into two parts:
 - One part is given a piece of paper with a typical phrase of a country where the WYD has already taken place (for example, "oi cara" for Brazil, "mamma mia" for Italy).
 - The other part is given a piece of paper with the city and year of each WYD (for example, Rio de Janeiro 2013, Rome 2000).
- Each youth must find the person who has the piece of paper with the matching typical phrase or city and year.
- In pairs, the youth must introduce themselves and/or try to discover the WYD theme to which their pieces of paper refer, and must share their expectations about participating in the WYD Lisbon 2023.
- The leader must propose the building a "concept map", preferably using a digital resource, in which the youth will use a word to define their idea of participating in the WYD.

World Youth Day in Portugal

- When the youth have introduced themselves, the leader must explain them the reason for the meeting, indicating that the Pope invites them to prepare to experience the WYD Lisbon 2023.
- The leader must explain that youth from all over the world began a pilgrimage around the world more than four decades ago. It started with Pope Saint John Paul II, continued with Pope Benedict XVI, and is being done with Pope Francis. The purpose is to bring hope to the world. The youth are heralds and witnesses of hope. They are called to commit themselves to building a civilization of love.
- For the youth to better understand what the World Youth Day is, the leader must show a video about WYD.
- After the video, the leader must allow the youth to express their opinion on what they have seen. The leader must mention that the time has come for Portugal to welcome this event, to which all youth are invited.

LISTEN

Rise up

The leader must explain that the expression “Rise up” is the central element of the preparation itinerary for WYD Lisbon. The Pope has chosen three themes with the verb “rise up” (you can see them on the back cover of the Pilgrim's Journal).

The leader must also indicate that all these themes are taken from the two texts written by St. Luke. The leader can ask the youth if they know St. Luke's writings (Gospel and Acts of the Apostles).

Make a brief presentation of St. Luke based on the text “Luke, a passionate evangelizer.” Then one of the youth reads:

The Gospel according to Saint Luke (Lk 1:1-4)

¹Many have been at pains to set forth the history of what time has brought to fulfillment among us, ²following the tradition of those first eye-witnesses who gave themselves up to the service of the word. ³And I too, most noble Theophilus, have resolved to put the story in writing for thee as it befell, having first traced it carefully from its beginnings, ⁴that thou mayst understand the instruction thou hast already received, in all its certainty.

The leader must briefly comment the text and highlight the following aspects:

- The three moments of the writing of the Gospels: events (facts), their oral transmission, and the redaction of the texts.
- The research work that Luke has carried out, based on previous texts and a serious investigation.
- The addressee of the Gospel – Theophilus. He is someone already educated on faith, but must make it grow by reading the Gospel. In Greek, his name means “the friend of God”.

- The purpose of the Gospel – to recognize the soundness of the doctrine in which Theophilus has been educated. Like Theophilus, each of us is called to recognize the truth of the faith in which we have been instructed and to grow the friendship with the Lord.

RECEIVE

We are pilgrims

The leader must invite the youth to read an excerpt from the Pope's message for the World Youth Day 2020, in which he invites them to start the pilgrimage to the WYD Lisbon.

“In October 2018, with the Synod of Bishops on Youth, the Faith and Vocational Discernment, the Church undertook a process of reflection on your place in today's world, your search for meaning and purpose in life, and your relationship with God. In January 2019, I met with hundreds of thousands of your contemporaries from throughout the world assembled in Panama for World Youth Day. Events of this type – the Synod and World Youth Day – are an expression of a fundamental dimension of the Church: the fact that we ‘journey together’. In this journey, every time we reach an important milestone, we are challenged by God and by life to make a new beginning. As youth, you are experts in this! You like to take trips, to discover new places and people, and to have new experiences. That is why I have chosen the city of Lisbon, the capital of Portugal, as the goal of our next intercontinental pilgrimage, to take place in 2022. From Lisbon, in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, great numbers of youth, including many missionaries, set out for unknown lands, to share their experience of Jesus with other peoples and nations.”

Pope Francis

*Message for the 25th
World Youth Day,
April 5, 2020*

ASK YOURSELF

Ready to get going?

In this part, the youth are invited to think about what they need to prepare a pilgrimage, using the following symbols:

Backpack: Inside it we carry what we need most. It is also where we keep our experiences that result from the way and that become part of our physical and spiritual baggage.

*What are you carrying in the “backpack of your life” at the beginning of this journey?
What is the great motivation for making this pilgrimage towards WYD Lisbon 2023?*

Staff: It is an instrument of support for the hardest parts of a walk and of protection against the unforeseen. The companions along the way are the help that allows us to keep moving forward.

Who do you want to count on during this pilgrimage? Who are your companions on the journey?

Cross: The cross tells us that the pilgrim is someone who chooses paths. The path of the Christian is to follow Jesus to the end, giving their life for Him.

What truths do you believe in? What is the great conviction that gives you strength to walk?

Bible: Pilgrims pay attention to the signs of what is going on around them and guide themselves by it. God's word is the great compass on the path you now begin.

You too have been taught the truth of our faith. Recall a teaching of Jesus that has particularly touched your life. Share it with your group.

Pilgrim's Journal: To be a pilgrim is to be able to tell how each day went, each stage of the pilgrimage. At the end of each day, writing a little journal means writing a story. The Pilgrim's Journal is your journal for the way.

Set out Together

The youth are invited to share the pondering made in the previous moment.

RISE UP

With Mary, our mother

- The leader must previously prepare an icon with the image of Our Lady, Salus Populi Romani, with the possibility of attaching ribbons with names.
- The leader must present the icon, referring to it as one of the symbols of the WYD. They must mention the centrality of Mary in WYD 2023.
- The leader must mention that this icon will accompany the group during this walk. If possible, the youth can take the symbol home from time to time.
- The leader must now give each youth a ribbon to write their name on.
- Each youth must attach their ribbon to the icon.

KEEP GOING

In this moment, the leader is meant to discuss with the youth some practical aspects concerning the organization of the meetings.

MEETING #1

Rise up and say "Yes" Lk 1:26-39

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To discover the reasons why Mary arose and set out in haste.
- To deepen the vocational dimension of existence.
- To recall the marks of God in one's personal history

Information for the leader:

- This meeting follows the initial meeting, in which the youth had an introduction to the Rise Up itinerary. It will work on the biblical text concerning the Annunciation of the birth of Jesus to Mary, which is the central theme of WYD in Lisbon. Therefore, it will be necessary to revisit this text many times.
- This meeting requires the use of an icon of the Annunciation. (In case the parish has a painting or icon of the Annunciation, this is the right moment to mention it.) Attention must be paid to preparing the atmosphere for the proclamation of the Gospel – the icon must be given special emphasis during the reading.

Necessary material:

- Phrase: "Let it be done to me according to Your word".
- Printed icon of the Annunciation.
- Background music.

GET READY

From Panama to Lisbon: the centrality of Mary

The meeting must begin with the display of the video with the announcement of WYD Lisbon (in WYD Panama 2019): <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dDzOSL4X7-Q>

After this, the leader must introduce the theme of the WYD Panama, indicating why it is related with the WYD Lisbon. Mary says "YES" to God's plan and leaves with haste to visit her cousin Elizabeth.

After watching the video, it must be mentioned that only those who say "YES" to God can leave with haste.

If we want to be like Mary, we have to listen to God's voice and say "YES" to Him. We begin our journey of preparation for the World Youth Day Lisbon 2023 with the joy of a song! Do you know the hymn of the World Youth Day, Panama 2019? Listen to it and think of what it means to say YES!

Behold the handmaid of the Lord! Hymn of WYD Panama 2019

As your pilgrim people we are gathered here today
 From every continent and city
 Longing to be true servants of the Lord
 Proclaiming your word to every nation
 Teach us to say yes as Mary did that day
 That your will be done here as in Heaven
 Fills our hearts with songs of joy and gladness
 Let all the earth stand up and praise you

Here I am, the Servant of the Lord!
Speak your word in me and let Your will be done.

Your chosen ones we are Sent out to do your will Your sons and daughters we are To be like your Mother surrendered to your will
 A pilgrim church called and anointed
 As your young disciples, we'll witness to the world
 With joy and faith live our vocation

Do not be afraid
 No do not fear
 The Father's arms are open
 Like Mary who said 'yes' and served the Lord
 Let now His will be done in you

LISTEN

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 1:26-39)

²⁶When the sixth month came, God sent the angel Gabriel to a city of Galilee called Nazareth, ²⁷where a virgin dwelt, betrothed to a man of David's lineage; his name was Joseph, and the virgin's name was Mary. ²⁸Into her presence the angel came, and said, Hail, thou who art full of grace; the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women. ²⁹She was much perplexed at hearing him speak so, and cast about in her mind, what she was to make of such a greeting. ³⁰Then the angel said to her, Mary, do not be afraid; thou hast found favour in the sight of God. ³¹And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and shalt bear a son, and shalt call him Jesus. ³²He shall be great, and men will know him for the Son of the most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of his father David, and he shall reign over the house of Jacob eternally; ³³his kingdom shall never have an end. ³⁴But Mary said to the angel, How can that be, since I have no knowledge of man? ³⁵And the angel answered her, The Holy Spirit will come upon thee, and the power of the most High will overshadow thee. Thus this holy offspring of thine shall be known for the Son of God. ³⁶See, moreover, how it fares with thy cousin Elizabeth; she is old, yet she too has conceived a son; she who was reproached with barrenness is now in her sixth month, ³⁷to prove that nothing can be impossible with God. ³⁸And Mary said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord; let it be unto me according to thy word. And with that the angel left her. ³⁹In the days that followed, Mary rose up and went with all haste to a town of Judah, in the hill country ⁴⁰where Zachary dwelt; and there entering in she gave Elizabeth greeting.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After the reading, the leader invites the youth to contemplate the icon of the Annunciation, asking them to identify the present characters and elements. Then the leader talks about the imagery of the different elements of the icon. The youth then subtitle the image of the Pilgrim's Journal, registering what seems most relevant to them about each element.

- Mary: Mary is referred to for the first time in the text of the Annunciation of the birth of Jesus in Luke's Gospel. The Angel Gabriel is sent by God to Nazareth to communicate the Good News to Mary.
 - Mary is on her knees, with a body expression of prayerful attitude.
 - She is dressed in blue, a color that expresses her virginity.
 - She is surprised by the Angel's announcement.
 - She shows joy and happiness because God is with her.
 - She says "YES" to God's project.
- The Angel: The name Gabriel means literally "God's stronghold". In the Bible he shows up to announce the fulfilment of God's promises.
 - The Angel is dressed as a deacon to express his service to God.
 - He holds a lily in his hand, symbolizing the purity of Mary's heart.
 - He is the one who takes the word and makes the action unfold.
 - He is the herald of God's will for Mary
- The White Dove: It represents the Holy Spirit descending above Mary.
 - The dove appears in other biblical texts to express the presence of the Holy Spirit (Baptism of Jesus) and the recreation of humanity (Genesis).
 - The Spirit comes to fertilize Mary's womb, allowing God's entrance into the world (new creation).
 - The dove refers to the power of the Highest, mentioned in the text, in the icon symbolized by the cloud. Both are symbols of God's presence.
- The Door: By saying "YES" to the message she heard, Mary opens the door through which God enters the world.
- The Green Pavement: It represents hope that opens up for those who listen to God's voice and say "YES" to Him.
- The Table with Dishes (pots, plates and pitchers): It represents our material life, our daily work, with its urgencies and worries, that so often make it difficult for us to hear God's voice.
- Empty Space in the Middle (horizontal): The empty space between the angel and the Virgin signifies the path that the divine Word takes until it reaches each one of us. It refers to the interior availability necessary to listen to God in freedom.

RECEIVE

The "Yes" of Mary

Pope Francis

Address at the Vigil of the 34th World
Youth Day, Panama,
January 26, 2019

After deepening the symbolic elements of the picture, the youth are invited to deepen the biblical message through the individual reading of the following text:

«We are always struck by the strength of that young woman's "yes", the power of those words "be it done" that she spoke to the angel. This was not a merely passive or resigned acceptance. It was different to a faint "yes", as if to say, "well, let's give it a try, and see what happens". Mary did not know that expression: let's see what happens. She was determined, she knew what was at stake and said "yes", getting straight to the point. It was something more, something different. It was the "yes" of someone prepared to be committed, someone willing to take a risk, ready to stake everything she had, with no more security than the certainty of knowing that she was the bearer of a promise. And I ask each one of you: do you see yourselves as bearers of a promise? What promise is there within my heart to take forward? Mary's mission would undoubtedly be a difficult one, but the challenges that lay ahead were no reason to say "no". Things would get complicated, of course, but not in the same way as happens when cowardice paralyzes us because things are not clear or sure in advance. Mary did not take out an insurance policy! Mary took the risk and for this reason she is strong, for this reason she is an "influencer", the "influencer" of God! The "yes" and the desire to serve were stronger than any doubts and difficulties.»

ASK YOURSELF

Personal confrontation with God's word

The youth are now invited to watch a short video with the testimony of a young man who participated in WYD in Panama 2019. The young man will share his experience and how he welcomed the challenges issued by the Pope. He comments the biblical text of the Annunciation, and he launches some challenges to the youth.

He will highlight the following points, in the form of a question:

Concerning your own story:

- What touched you the most in this text?
- How strong is your yes?

Concerning your daily life:

- Do you live with haste just like Mary?
- Is Mary an influencer for you?

Concerning the "now":

- At this moment in life, is it important for you to listen to this Word?
- Do you feel like the bearer of a promise?

After presenting the questions there is a moment of silence to think about them.

SHARE

This moment is integrated in the next moment of the meeting.

PRAY

The story of my vocation

Each youth is invited to write the story of their vocation:

- In the first part, the youth must elaborate the historical chronology of their life - the "path of life", where they shall identify some of the most outstanding moments of their a) personal life (e.g., birth); b) social life (e.g., going to school for the first time); c) religious life (e.g., baptism, etc.).
- Then, the youth must mark the moments when they felt God's presence the most.
- Finally, the youth must identify God's "calls" their life – to what God has called them.

In groups, the youth must share specific examples of when they felt God calling them, during their journey, and how they responded to that call. At the end, everyone prays the Magnificat out loud, giving thanks alongside Mary for what God is doing in each one's life.

"My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, for he has looked on the humble estate of his servant.
For behold, from now on all generations will call me blessed;
for he who is mighty has done great things for me,
and holy is his name.
And his mercy is for those who fear him from generation to generation.
He has shown strength with his arm;
he has scattered the proud in the thoughts of their hearts;
he has brought down the mighty from their thrones and exalted those of humble estate;
he has filled the hungry with good things,
and the rich he has sent away empty.
He has helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy,
as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his offspring forever."
Amen

RISE UP

To rise is to seek God's will

In this first meeting, the youth are invited to learn how to identify God's will in their daily lives through the personal prayer and with the help of the following clues:

We can identify God's will through what is possible, what is the best, and what is the smartest.

What does the will of God consist of? First of all, it consists of the Path of Good that God reveals to us through His commandments and the teachings of the Church: do not kill, do not steal, honor your parents, forgive those who offend you, etc. These commandments are universal, that is, they are valid for everyone.

Besides this, God has a particular desire for each person. For example, that one accepts a certain job or mission; that one corrects a certain aspect of their life; that one draws closer to a certain person or make peace, etc.

Basically, everything that God wants is for us to become more and more human and happy as children of God.

There are 3 important characteristics of God's will that must be perceived:

It is always POSSIBLE. God never asks the impossible from us. If something were totally impossible, then it certainly would not be God's will. But be aware that there are many things that seem impossible to us in our own strength alone, but are possible with God's grace.

It is always THE BEST for us and for others around us, even when it does not seem like it. God would never ask for something that is not meant to make us happy. But sometimes this things are hard, because we imagine our happiness in a different way, and it is hard for us to trust God.

Doing God's Will will always be the MOST INTELLIGENT choice. God knows better than us how our lives and talents can yield the most for our good and for the good of others around us. Doing His will is not a favor we do to God, but to ourselves. He is the one doing us a "favor" in showing us His will!

KEEP GOING

In this last moment of the meeting, the date of the next meeting shall be announced. Also the daily commitment to praying shall be reminded with the reading of the following text:

The Advent Angel

Let your angel open these doors again to the announcement of pure and sudden life that elevates even our dullest days up to the promise

Let your angel come to reinstate the censored alphabet to rehearse the dance ignored by the movements
Let him come to point out the fair day, only by the clear blue to make get rid of the ashes of discouragement and sleep to guide us beyond the borders

Let your angel come to name what we bring and take from one day to another always postponed
Let him come to retell the unfinished body
This reticent mode of dwelling still waiting for his true birth.

YES, I BELIEVE!

† From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

God's Providence

313. "We know that in everything God works for good for those who love him." The constant witness of the saints confirms this truth:

(...) St. Thomas More, shortly before his martyrdom, consoled his daughter: "Nothing can come but that that God wills. And I make me very sure that whatsoever be, seem it never so bad in sight, it shall indeed be best."

314. We firmly believe that God is the master of the world and of its history. But the ways of His providence are often unknown to us. Only at one end, when our partial knowledge ceases, when we see God "face to face", will we fully know the ways by which – even through the dramas of evil and sin – God has guided His creation to that definitive sabbath rest for which He created heaven and earth."

PERSONAL PROJECT

#1 Step: Learn to know God's will

"How will this be..." (Lk 1:34)

Take the first step to build your project. Follow the example of Mary who walked with us in the first catechesis of this journey, ask questions, not only to yourself, but also to God. Trust that He has the right answers and wants your true happiness.

To reflect upon:

- What motivations guide my days, my decisions?
- What gives me courage? What deep desires do I carry in my heart? What makes me happy?
- How might God be speaking to me through these deep desires that I discover within me?
- What might be God's will for me? Have my motivations helped me live God's will?

MEETING #2

Rise up and receive the Holy Spirit (Lk 4:14-22a)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To welcome the presence of the Holy Spirit in light of Jesus' experience.
- To become aware of the Holy Spirit speaking to us through the Scriptures.
- To feel called to live each day as a Child of God.

Information for the leader:

- This meeting introduces a text that marks the beginning of Jesus' public life and presents the fundamental characteristics of His mission. Saying yes to God's plan is also the aim of Jesus' life. As seen in the previous text, the Holy Spirit appears as the main protagonist; it is the same Spirit who fertilizes the womb of Mary and fuels Jesus in His messianic mission.
- Particular attention should be paid to the moment of prayer in which a journey through various passages of the Bible is foreseen. It is expected that this moment be of reading and personal work. The leader should be the first to commit himself to this prayerful reading of the text.
- The proposed sharing on each person's prayer should be guided by the leader, to ensure that everyone feels free to share some aspect of their pondering, but at the same time that no one feels forced to do so.

Necessary material:

- Video: Hymn for the WYD Sydney, Receive the Power
- Background music.

GET READY

Sidney 2008, the power of the Holy Spirit

The leader begins by making a reference to the previous meeting, highlighting the importance of the verb to "rise up" in Luke's Gospel, now referred to Jesus in a text that recounts a scene set in the Synagogue of Nazareth. The Holy Spirit, who appeared in the Annunciation narrative of Jesus' birth, is always present in Him. St. Luke reinforces this idea by presenting Jesus as someone led by the Spirit.

The leader invites each youth to ask themselves if they are aware of the presence of the Holy Spirit in their existence and if they have let Him act in their life. The leader also remembers that each Christian is inhabited by this same Spirit since the baptism. This is the Spirit who also wants to lead us to God.

The leader reinforces the idea that WYD is a providential event, an event provided by the Holy Spirit. To participate in a WYD is also a response given to God with the power of the Spirit. This response was felt particularly by the youth at the WYD Sydney 2008 which theme was "You will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you will be my witnesses" (Acts 1:8). In this WYD the youth were able to experience the Holy Spirit renewing the life of every person and the whole world.

The youth are now invited to listen to the WYD Sydney 2008 Hymn and, through it, ask God to fill them with His Spirit at the beginning of this meeting.

Receive the Strength - Sydney World Youth Day Hymn 2008

Every nation, every tribe, come together to worship You.
In Your presence we delight, we will follow to the ends of the earth.

Alleluia! Alleluia!

Receive the Power, from the Holy Spirit!

Alleluia! Alleluia!

Receive the Power to be a light unto the world!

As Your Spirit calls to rise we will answer and do Your Will.
We'll forever testify of Your mercy and unfailing love.

Lamb of God, we worship You,
Holy One, we worship You,
Bread of Life, we worship You,
Emmanuel, we worship You.
Lamb of God, we worship You,
Holy One, we worship You,
Bread of Life, we worship You,
Emmanuel, we will sing forever.

LISTEN

Reading God's Word in the Spirit: what does the text say?

While the youth are still in recollection, the leader invites them to prolong the invocation to the Holy Spirit, so that the Word they will hear can be read and meditated upon in the same Spirit with which it was written.

As Jesus was led by the Spirit to the place of the Word, and read and interpreted it in that same Spirit, we will also be able to read and interpret this word in the Spirit that inspired it.

A song of invocation to the Holy Spirit is sung:

Veni Sancte Spiritus,
Tui amoris ignem accende.
Veni Sancte Spiritus,
Veni Sancte Spiritus.

kindle in us the fire of your love,
Holy Spirit come to us,
Holy Spirit come to us. (Taizé)

Next, the biblical text is proclaimed.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 4:14-22a)

¹⁴And Jesus came back to Galilee with the power of the Spirit upon him; word of him went round through all the neighbouring country, ¹⁵and he began to preach in their synagogues, so that his praise was on all men's lips. ¹⁶Then he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up; and he went into the synagogue there, as his custom was, on the sabbath day, and stood up to read. ¹⁷The book given to him was the book of the prophet Isaia; so he opened it, and found the place where the words ran: ¹⁸The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; he has anointed me, and sent me out to preach the gospel to the poor, to restore the broken-hearted; ¹⁹to bid the prisoners go free, and the blind have sight; to set the oppressed at liberty, to proclaim a year when men may find acceptance with the Lord, a day of retribution. ²⁰Then he shut the book, and gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. All those who were in the synagogue fixed their eyes on him, ²¹and thus he began speaking to them, This scripture which I have read in your hearing is to-day fulfilled. ²²All bore testimony to him, and were astonished at the gracious words which came from his mouth; Why, they said, is not this the son of Joseph?

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After the proclamation of the text, the leader mentions that the first step for reading a text in the Spirit is to recognize it as being written by the Spirit. The first question to ask the text is: what are you saying?

To help the youth understand what is written in the text, the leader uses their own words to expose some of the following elements:

- This passage narrates the first preaching of Jesus. The narrator wants to inaugurate Jesus' public ministry with a discourse that manifests the meaning of His mission through a reference to the book of Isaiah (Isaiah 61:1-2).
- The text shows that Jesus had already spoken before and had been successful (Luke 4:14-15).
- During a Jewish liturgical celebration on a Sabbath day, Jesus read the text and then commented it. He applied the passage of the prophet He had just read to Himself. He manifests Himself as being God's Anointed One, the Messiah, the Christ awaited since ancient times. The imagery of anointing with oil represents the Holy Spirit. In Christian initiation, it is the sacramental sign of confirmation.
- To understand the full force of the Holy Spirit, we must go back to the first anointing performed by the Holy Spirit – the anointing of Jesus. Christ (Messiah in Hebrew) means being anointed by the Spirit of God. In the old Covenant (Ex 30:22-32), there were people who were anointed by the Lord, especially King David (1Sam 16:13).
- But Jesus is the one uniquely anointed by God. The humanity that the Son assumes is totally "anointed by the Holy Spirit". Jesus is constituted Christ by the Holy Spirit (Lk 4:18-19; Is 61:1), which is the Spirit by whom He was conceived in Mary's womb and whose power is emanated in His acts of healing and salvation. Finally, God raises Jesus from the dead through his Spirit (Rom 1:4; 8:11). When Jesus is fully constituted "Christ" in his death-conquering humanity (Acts 2:36), He abundantly infuses us with the Holy Spirit.

RECEIVE

What does the text tell me?

Following the previous part, the leader must mention that the second question to ask the text is: what does it say to me?

The leader must motivate the youth to listen to a short video commenting the proclaimed Word, in which a youth presents the following challenges:

- Jesus is led by the Spirit. I am also led by the Spirit, as a young Christian, from the day of my baptism and in a special way from the day of my confirmation.
- "It is [the Holy Spirit] who prepares and opens hearts to receive this proclamation, it is He who keeps this experience of salvation alive, it is He who will help you grow in this joy if you let Him act. The Holy Spirit fills your heart with the risen Christ and from there, like a fountain, pours Himself into your life. And when you receive him, the Holy Spirit makes you enter more and more into the heart of Christ, so that you will fill yourself ever more with his love, his light, and his strength" (CV 130).
- Jesus returns to his homeland! I am called to be a prophet as well, the voice of God in my daily life, next to my friends and family.
- Belonging to Christ in the Spirit gives me the grace of being an instrument of God's salvation for others, like He was.
- I am a witness in the way I try to perform God's mission next to those with whom I live, work, or study.
- (As a way of launching a challenge to the youth) What about you? Are you aware that the Holy Spirit is within you? Do you ask him to help you in the small and big issues of your daily life? How are you letting God reach others through you?

ASK YOURSELF

The text challenges me

The leader must suggest a time for reflection upon and confrontation with the Word of God, based on the questions launched by the video.

Some instrumental music can be played in the background to favor an environment of silence and recollection.

Questions to personally reflect upon:

- How do I strengthen my relationship with God? (Through personal prayer, reading of the Word, explicit request for his Spirit or sacramental life).
- What changes in my life when I stop and recognize that I am a child of God? Do I believe that He loves me and always takes care of me, even in the midst of difficulties and sufferings?
- Am I aware that the Holy Spirit is in me? Do I ask Him to help me in the small and big issues of everyday life?
- How am I letting God reach others through me?

PRAY

Journey through the Scriptures

Still in a prayerful environment and with music in the background, a moment of prayer with the word of God itself is proposed. Like Jesus each one of us is called to be guided by the Word of God, in which the Spirit acts and speaks with us. The goal is to get in touch with excerpts from Scripture where the Spirit of God is mentioned.

In the Pilgrim's Journal there are several biblical passages. The initial passage is read together, and each youth is invited to make a journey through the Word of God.

One must begin by filling in the box that says, "I pray this". Inside that box one must write something that came up from the passage read (a question, a feeling, a word, an idea, a person, a prayer, a misunderstanding, an episode from one's own life, etc.).

Then the "tree" must be climbed up from the root to the fruit. Each youth must search for a biblical passage at a time. After finding it, the youth must read it and write the phrase or word that most caught their attention in the blank space where the bible quote is found.

Then fill in the box that says, "I pray this" according to the criteria presented above.

Biblical texts:

- Lk 4:14-22a
- Mt 3:16-17
- Is 61:1-2
- Is 11:1-4
- Gal 5:16-26
- Jn 14:15-21
- Lk 24:49-53
- Acts 2:1-24

SHARE

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because...

In small groups, the youth share

- their journey made through reading and praying the Word of God.
- the answers, worries, thoughts, misunderstandings, motivations before the questions posed in the previous moment ("Ask yourself").
- how the passages of the Sacred Scripture relate to their answers.

RISE UP

The Spirit of the Lord has anointed me to announce

The leader must finish this meeting by pointing out that Jesus let Himself be led by the Spirit throughout His life until the end. In this way, He always fulfilled the will of His Father.

The leader asks the youth if they want to rise up like Jesus and, impelled by the Spirit, fulfil the Word they have heard?

In the light of the answers, the leader launches some challenges to help the youth get up to read and listen to the Word of God:

- To devote 5 min a day to read the Word of God (taking up some of the texts prayed in this meeting).
- To invoke the Holy Spirit daily (learn a prayer by heart)

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

Come, Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of your believers and kindle them with the fire of your love. O Lord send forth Thy Spirit, and all shall be created. And You shall renew the face of the Earth.

O Lord, by the light of the Holy Spirit, You have taught the hearts of Your believers. Let us rightfully appreciate all things and always rejoice in your consolation. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

KEEP GOING

In order to each and everyone can know more about the issue:

Invoking the Holy Spirit

Ask the Holy Spirit each day to help you experience new great news. Why not? You have nothing to lose, and he can change your life, fill it with light and lead it along a better path. He takes nothing away from you, but instead helps you to find all that you need, and in the best possible way. Do you need love? You will not find it in dissipation, using other people, or trying to be possessive or domineering. You will find it in a way that will make you genuinely happy. Are you seeking powerful emotions? You will not experience them by accumulating material objects, spending money, chasing desperately after the things of this world. They will come, and in a much more beautiful and meaningful way, if you let yourself be prompted by the Holy Spirit. (Pope Francis, Christus Vivit 131)

Get to know better the Gospel according to St. Luke through this video

YES, I BELIEVE!

+ From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

I believe in the Holy Spirit

683. "No one can say 'Jesus is Lord' except by the Holy Spirit." [1 Cor 12:3] "God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, 'Abba! Father!'" [Gal 4:6] This knowledge of faith is only possible through the Holy Spirit. To be in touch with Christ, we must firstly have been touched by the Holy Spirit. He comes to meet us and kindle faith in us. It is through our Baptism, the first sacrament of the faith, that Life is offered to us by the Son, having its source on the Father and being transmitted personally by the Holy Spirit.

The Baptism "gives us the grace of a new birth in God the Father, through his Son, in the Holy Spirit. For those who bear God's Spirit are led to the Word, that is, to the Son, and the Son presents them to the Father, and the Father confers incorruptibility on them. And it is impossible to see God's Son without the Spirit, and no one can approach the Father without the Son, for the knowledge of the Father is the Son, and the knowledge of God's Son is obtained through the Holy Spirit".

PERSONAL PROJECT

#2 step - Listen and pray God's Word

"...He rose up to read, and the scroll of Isaiah was handed to Him" (Lk 4: 16-17a.)

In this second step of the pilgrimage, the youth are invited to train themselves to listen to the Word of God! Through it, God wants to speak to them! They must learn to listen to Him and welcome the clues He wants to give them, so they know their path and start walking it!

To reflect upon:

- Begin to read the Gospel according to St. Luke.
- Luke is a passionate evangelizer who tried to faithfully transmit the great announcement of salvation that Jesus brought.
- Nowadays, you are Theophilus, the friend of God, to whom he writes. Accept his challenge to walk with Jesus.
- Write down each day a word/phrase that has remained in your heart.
- Choose a word from God that guides your project.

MEETING #3

Rise up and let yourself be healed... (Lk 4: 38-44)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To reflect upon personal experience of illness and healing.
- To explore the relationship between physical healing and spiritual healing.
- To celebrate the closeness of God in the experience of His mercy.

Information for the leader:

- For the initial dynamics, an ample space with good circulation is needed, as well as sufficient materials.
- This meeting presupposes some complementary actions, thought up and developed by the youth, namely the celebration of the sacrament of Reconciliation which, in case it cannot take place as a group, can be done by each one on their own initiative by making an appointment with the priest. However, if possible, a community celebration of the sacrament of Reconciliation should be scheduled.
- The celebration of the Anointing of the Sick can be accompanied and followed by other forms of closeness to the sick, such as visits or other ways of socializing. Could it be possible, a project could be created for each young person to adopt an elderly or sick person from the Christian community and show more continuous signs of closeness. For example, through weekly home visits, phone calls, help with small tasks, shopping, etc.

Necessary material:

- Blindfolds.
- Individual cards with illnesses and their respective cures.
- Photographs from previous editions of WYD, referring to the Mercy spaces and the confessionals.
- Small pieces of paper.
- Candle, oil of the sick.

GET READY

Illnesses and cures

When welcoming the youth, the leader must ask them about their commitment to the previous meeting. In a brief sharing, the youth must talk about their experience of prayer around listening to the Word of God and invoking the Holy Spirit, about something that has particularly challenged or touched them.

Following this moment, the leader must introduce the theme of this meeting with the following dynamics:

- Everyone blindfolds their eyes.
- The group is divided into two parts.
- One part of the group is given cards with diseases on them.
- The other part receives cards with the respective cures.

- The person that has a card with a disease must find the person with the cure.
- The main idea is that the sick person finds the person who can save him (e.g., the "fever" card corresponds to the "I cure the fever" card).

At the end, the leader explains that the experience of illness makes us search for a cure. And this happens in many ways in our lives. Each person can recall personal experiences, or the experiences of someone they know, in which illness calls for the search for healing. You can give an example that you yourself know about.

The effort of the human being in search of a cure is manifested in the multiple technological findings carried out by scientific research for a better life quality. The leader can mention the findings achieved in the search of a cure for some global disease.

We also realize also we can be a cause of healing for others, through our presence and friendship. Even if we can't cure a disease, we can make a difference in someone's life, through our actions, by giving them back their health and well-being.

Healing also has a strong spiritual meaning. In the Gospels, physical healings are always an expression of the inner sickness we call sin. We can only be a healing presence to others if we are reconciled with God.

An important element of a WYD is the journey of renewal of life itself that many youth experience by celebrating the Sacrament of Reconciliation. The Campi Misericordiae are places for listening and welcoming where youth can feel healed and accompanied.

The theme for the WYD 2016, in the Year of Mercy, was, "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy." There the youth were able to experience the power of God's love that heals and saves. At some WYDs, confessionals were built by inmates.

LISTEN

Healing and service

The group leader introduces the biblical text of this meeting, inviting all to listen to it

The Gospel according to Saint Luke (4:38-44).

³⁸So he rose up and left the synagogue, and went into Simon's house. The mother of Simon's wife was in the grip of a violent fever, and they entreated his aid for her.

³⁹He stood over her, and checked the fever, so that it left her; all at once she rose, and ministered to them. ⁴⁰And when the sun was going down, all those who had friends afflicted with diseases of any kind brought them to him: and he laid his hands upon each one of them, and healed them. ⁴¹Many, too, had devils cast out of them, which cried aloud, Thou art the Son of God; but he rebuked them and would not have them speak, because they knew that he was the Christ. ⁴²Then, when day came, he went out and retired to a desert place. The multitude, who had set out in search of him and caught him up, would have kept him there, and not let him leave them. ⁴³But he told them, I must preach the gospel of God's kingdom to the other cities too; it is for this that I was sent.⁴⁴ And so he went on preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After the proclamation of the text, the leader must invite the youth to underline the actions present in the text and to transcribe them to the board next to the text in their infinitive verbal form (Pilgrim's Journal).

After this, the leader must suggest them to write down a brainstorm concerning the meaning of each verb. The youth can register the meanings of the verbs in the Pilgrim's Diary. The leader can turn to the following list:

Intercede - To ask for another person, to intervene on someone's behalf. The people in Simon's house are interceding on his behalf next to Jesus.

To bend down - to lean over someone. In this case, it expresses Jesus' care for this sick woman.

Rebuke - To rebuke, to admonish with energy. Jesus reacts strongly against the cause of the illness, thus demonstrating his superiority over the illness.

Leave - To go away, inaugurating a new state, a transformation, a new beginning.

Get up - To rise up. The central verb of the text. An action that expresses the transformation wrought by Jesus, as opposed to the immobile and prostrate position of the sick person. It expresses the salvific work of Jesus who came to raise us from death and sin.

Serving - Being at someone's beck and call, at someone's service, at someone's disposal. It expresses the fundamental attitude of Jesus who came to serve (Lk 22:27).

Laying on of hands - A typical gesture of blessing and healing. In Scripture it expresses God's action in favor of someone. This gesture is present in the sacraments, most notably in the Baptism, Confirmation and Holy Orders.

To heal - To restore health to the sick.

Shout - To speak louder, so that one can be heard. It also expresses something we want everyone to know, something we can't keep a secret of. The demons know that Jesus is the Son of God, so they shout.

Leaving - To abandon a place. This example where the demons are cast out means that the person is delivered from evil, hence a new state of being.

Announce - To spread the news, to communicate it. Jesus takes it as His mission to announce the Good News of the Kingdom of God.

Proclaim - To publicly announce a message. It expresses the attitude of Jesus in wanting the Gospel to reach everyone.

RECEIVE

Healing and service today

As a way of actualizing this text, it is proposed that the leader invites someone to give a short testimony, where they compare their experience to the biblical text. That person must be connected to healthcare services or must have already experienced illness (e.g., informal caregiver, volunteer, nurse, doctor, patient).

ASK YOURSELF

The healed and the healers

The leader must mention Pope Francis' words written in the Pilgrim's Journal:

- "Jesus shows a particular predilection for those who are wounded in body and in spirit: the poor, the sinners, the possessed, the sick, the marginalized". (Angelus, February 8th, 2015).

Then the leader must invite the youth to read the texts of Pope Francis and to respond individually to the questions posed.

- "Youth also experience setbacks, disappointments and profoundly painful memories. Often, they feel "the hurt of past failures, frustrated desires, experiences of discrimination and injustice, of feeling unloved and unaccepted". Then too "there are moral wounds, the burden of past errors, a sense of guilt for having made mistakes".[38] Jesus makes his presence felt amid these crosses borne by youth; he offers them his friendship, his consolation and his healing companionship. The Church wants to be his instrument on this path to interior healing and peace of heart". (Pope Francis, Christus Vivit 83).
- I see clearly that the thing the Church needs most today is the ability to heal wounds and warm the hearts of the faithful, closeness, companionship. I see the Church as a campaign hospital after a battle. (...) You have to heal your wounds. (...) Heal wounds, care for wounds. (Pope Francis, interview with Civiltà Cattolica magazine).
- How do I react to my sufferings and my illnesses? Do I become afraid, am I too mushy or do I victimize myself?
- What are my wounds and diseases? How do I feel Jesus approaching me to heal me? Have I felt the joy of being forgiven in the sacrament of Reconciliation?
- How do I feel about seeing the sufferings of others? How have I helped them heal? How have I become present in the lives of others by bringing them the good news of Jesus who can heal them?

- Think of a person you know who suffers from a difficult situation or who is sick. How can you specifically take care of their wounds?

SHARE

The youth must share in small groups their thoughts with each other, highlighting one aspect that touched them the most.

PRAY

The Lord heals our infirmities

Still in small groups, the leader must invite each youth to remember a difficult moment that they, or someone close to them, is going through.

Afterwards the youth must write a prayer of supplication or thanksgiving regarding the difficult moment in the Pilgrim's Journal. Also, on a small piece of paper, the youth must write the name of the person for whom they feel it is necessary to pray.

In the middle of the group, a candle and oil of the sick must be placed next to the Bible. The leader must point out that the oil is used in the sacrament of the anointing of the sick. It is present in the meeting as a sign of God's healing power that the Church is called to make present in the world. After this the pieces of paper with the names of the sick are placed next to the oil of the sick.

Each youth is free to share their personal prayer. This is followed by a joint recitation of Psalm 103:1-5:

- ¹ "Praise the Lord, my soul;
all my inmost being, praise his holy name.
- ² Praise the Lord, my soul, and forget not all his benefits—
- ³ who forgives all your sins, and heals all your diseases,
- ⁴ who redeems your life from the pit.
and crowns you with love and compassion,
- ⁵ who satisfies your desires with good things so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's."

At the end, each youth gets a piece of paper from those next to the oil of the sick, committing to pray for that person.

RISE UP

Let yourself be healed

To accept the invitation to “Let yourself be healed”, it is proposed that each youth group creates teams to prepare a Penitential Celebration. The Penitential Celebration will be directed to the youth themselves and aims to help them in their process of inner healing through the experience of encountering the mercy of God.

KEEP GOING

This moment suggests the watching of a movie related to the theme of this meeting, such as Hacksaw Ridge, or reading the book The Life of St. Benedict Menni.

YES, I BELIEVE!

From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

The healing sacraments

1421. The Lord Jesus Christ, physician of our souls and bodies, who forgave the sins of the paralytic and restored him to bodily health, [Cf. Mk 2:1-12] has willed that his Church continue, in the power of the Holy Spirit, his work of healing and salvation, even among her own members. This is the purpose of the two sacraments of healing: the sacrament of Penance and the sacrament of Anointing of the Sick.

PERSONAL PROJECT

#3 Step – Celebrate Reconciliation

“...laying his hands on each of them, healing them”. (Lk 4:40)

Take a step closer to the construction of your personal project. This time you are invited to review your life and identify your spiritual illnesses that must be healed.

To reflect upon:

- What attitudes, choices, situations in my life have not been according to God's will?
- What do I want to ask God to heal in me so that I can be more like what He has dreamed?
- I'm eager to take a Specific Conversion Step from the journey already made, something concrete to change, to grow!

MEETING #4

Rise up and journey (Lk 5:17-26)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To understand the ecclesial and community dimension of the WYD.
- To discover the value of an intercessory prayer.
- To recognize oneself as called to be an instrument of God's salvation and mercy.

Information for the leader:

- To prepare for the meeting, the group leader must pray the biblical text (Lk 5:17-26) individually, so that the prayer provides some practical outcome for personal life. As a suggestion for meditating on the Word, the leader can use the traditional Lectio Divina or parts of the proposed meeting. That is, the leader must do a prayerful reading of the biblical text and answer the questions raised in the "Listen" and "Ask Yourself" moments.
- The leader must also deepen their knowledge about the life of St. Jacinta Marto (1910-1920) in order to present her to the group as a model of intercession, and an instrument of God's salvation and mercy. For that purpose, the following texts can be read:
 - Fatima in Lucia's own words, with particular importance the 1st Memoir, p.33-64
https://www.piercedhearts.org/hearts_jesus_mary/apparitions/fatima/MemoriasI_en.pdf
 - Spirituality of St. Jacinta Marto
<https://www.papa2017.fatima.pt/en/pages/three-sheperds>
 - Life of the Seers
<https://www.fatima.pt/en/pages/chronology-of-the-three-seers>
- Several spaces of prayer should be provided for the meeting so that the youth can pray individually during the "Listen" and "Ask Yourself" moments.
- It is also necessary to print and cut in half the sayings of St. Jacinta Marto. In case there are more youth than pieces of paper, the sentences can be duplicated.
- Please note that this meeting was prepared by Sister Marta Mendes, of the Congregation of the Alliance of Holy Mary, who died on May 17th 2020, at the age of 35, after a cerebral hemorrhage, which occurred on May 13th, during the Eucharistic celebration. This happened while she was reading a text written by her, that ended with the following verse of the Song of Songs: "Take me away with you—let us hurry! Let the king bring me into his chambers." (Song of Songs 1:4).

Necessary material:

- Jacinta's sayings, previously cut out.
- Pictures of youth at WYD, from the WYD prayer vigils.
- Scenario elements (empty container that can carry the pieces of paper for the individual prayer, a piece of tile, and rope).
- Blank pieces of paper.
- Rosary (this can be a good opportunity to offer the rosary to each youth, if the conditions allow, maybe even with the symbol alluding to WYD).

GET READY

The value of intercession

The meeting begins with the hymn of the WYD in Santiago de Compostela (1989). The leader must highlight some elements of the hymn such as the idea of pilgrimage, the youth walking together, etc.

We are the Youth of the 2000s - WYD Hymn Santiago de Compostela 1989

Among so much confusion, among so much deception,
we seek today for a path with a vision full of freedom.

We want no more stories, instead we want the truth
To build a brand-new world a brand-new humanity

We are the youth of the 2000s we are pilgrims always in search of the source of full freedom.
We follow the way of St. James that leads all to Christ the way, the truth and the life

The Apostle with his strong voice calls us today to his city he is telling us the real way to conquering full freedom;
He will make us all heralds witnesses of the Truth to ignite love in all society.

The Pope talks to our hearts as simple pilgrim
The Harvest is now mature
He is only waiting for our yes
From this small piece of the sky to the world is sending us
To build a land without borders whose destiny is happiness

After hearing the hymn, the youth must share their thoughts on the Penitential Celebration, and other celebrations and visits to the diseased. The leader must recall the fact that each youth has made a daily commitment to pray for a person and must point out the value of intercession. Just as those in Peter's home interceded on behalf of his mother-in-law who was sick, we also intercede on behalf of these people.

The leader must mention that this meeting is about the value of intercession, taking Saint Jacinta Marto as an example.

The leader must give each youth a piece of paper containing half of one of the following sentences of Saint Jacinta Marto, regarding intercession:

- "Oh, Jesus it is for your | love and for the conversion of sinners."
- "Our Lady came to see us and said that she is coming to take Francisco to Heaven very soon. And she asked me if | I still wanted to convert more sinners. I told her I wanted to."
- "Don't be afraid; you're going to Heaven. Yes, I am, | but I wanted all those people to go there too."
- "Jacinta, don't come [to Mass]; you just can't. Today isn't | Sunday!" (...) "It doesn't matter. I'm going for the sinners who don't even go on Sunday."
- "Forgive them, my Jesus, and convert them. Surely | they don't know that herewith they are offending God."
- "Such a shame, my Jesus! | I will pray for them."
- "But don't be afraid! In Heaven, I will pray much for you, for | the Holy Father, for Portugal, so that the war does not come here, and for all the priests".

After receiving half of the sentence, each youth should look for the corresponding pair. Once the pairing has been done, each pair must answer the following questions:

- What theme does this sentence refer to?
- What is Jacinta's attitude?
- What could this sentence have to do with me?

After the dialogue, the whole group must come together. The leader must invite some of the youth to share their thoughts and answers.

The leader must emphasize the importance of intercession, by summarizing the various answers and pointing out that the WYD has an important community dimension.

With the help of some pictures of youth in the WYD, the leader must highlight the fact that in this event one can find many other unique youth from all over the world. It must also be mentioned that each youth has a different gift, but all are united in the same body.

As St. Paul says, a body has all members united: if a member suffers, all suffer with it; if one rejoices, all rejoice with it. In this way, the youth can have the experience of belonging to the Church.

Once again with the help of some photos of the WYD prayer vigils, the leader must reinforce the fact that at the WYD youth are united with the same spirit and in prayer, interceding for the whole world. As Pope Francis writes in the Apostolic Exhortation Christus Vivit, youth feel called "to light up stars in the night of other youth" (Pope Francis, Christus Vivit 33).

LISTEN

The paralytic is helped by others

Having in mind what the Pope said ("The Lord calls us to light up stars in the night of other youth"), the leader must now introduce the biblical text.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 5:17-26)

¹⁷It chanced one day that he was teaching, and that some Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting by, who had come from every village in Galilee, and Judaea, and Jerusalem; and the power of the Lord was there, to grant healing. ¹⁸Just then, some men brought there on a bed one who was palsied, whom they tried to carry in and set down in Jesus' presence. ¹⁹But, finding no way of carrying him in, because of the multitude, they went up on to the house-top, and let him down between the tiles, bed and all, into the clear space in front of Jesus. ²⁰And he, seeing their faith, said, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee. ²¹Whereupon the Pharisees and scribes fell to reasoning thus, Who can this be, that he talks so blasphemously? Who can forgive sins but God and God only? ²²Jesus knew of these secret thoughts of theirs, and said to them openly, Why do you reason thus in your hearts? ²³Which command is more lightly given, to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise up and walk? ²⁴And now, to convince you that the Son of Man has power to forgive sins while he is on earth (here he spoke to the palsied man), I tell thee, rise up, take thy bed with thee and go home. ²⁵And he rose up at once in full sight of them, took up his bedding, and went home, giving praise to God. ²⁶Astonishment came over them all, and they praised God, full of awe; We have seen strange things, they said, to-day.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After proclaiming the text, the leader must invite each youth to read it again in silence.

The group is then arranged in such a way that everyone can watch and listen attentively to the dramatization of the biblical text.

There are four previously chosen youth, each of whose embodies a character and tells the story, in two minutes, according to their perspective, considering the following topics:

Character 1: Jesus

This character plays Jesus teaching.

They may play a scene in which Jesus hears a noise, notices what is happening, and stares. Unexpectedly, He sees some men climbing up on the roof and bringing down someone on a stretcher.

While describing the scene, they must refer to the faith of those men who were carrying the paralytic without asking anything in return.

Then it represents Jesus' closeness to the paralytic and the healing that takes place.

Character 2: One of the men carrying the paralytic

- This character can describe the normal life of a man of that time, with work, with family.
- He heard about Jesus of Nazareth, who healed the sick, who spoke like no one else, who was different from any religious teacher. He explains that he has a friend who is paralyzed. They both have the hope that Jesus can heal him.
- After mentioning that the man asks three other friends to help him carry the paralytic, the person playing the character must describe the scene as they arrive at the place where Jesus was. They were carrying the paralytic on the stretcher, but because of the crowd it was difficult to get him in. So, they climbed up to the roof and lowered the paralytic down to Jesus.
- The character describes the miracle and the joy of seeing his friend healed.

Character 3: The paralytic

- He describes himself as someone who has always wanted to be healed. He had a very negative self-image, was rejected by society, considered himself punished and cursed by God.
- He mentions a friend and some acquaintances who said they could take him to Jesus of Nazareth, who could certainly heal him. He hoped that this could happen.
- Then he describes the scene told in the gospel: the paralytic being carried by his friends, waiting to see what was going to happen. He says that when he sees the crowd, he feels discouraged and almost loses hope. However, the men who are carrying him do not give up and climb up with him to the roof, and from there they lower him down to stand before Jesus.
- He witnesses the joy of seeing Jesus and being healed by Him.
- He shows attitudes of joy, gratitude and recognition and life change.

Character 4: A person from the crowd

- This is a person who, moved by curiosity, goes to the place where Jesus was to hear and see Him. A person without much faith, but who is looking for meaning in their life.
- The person describes the scene: four men trying to enter with a paralytic on a stretcher. At the same time, the character does nothing to help them pass.
- The person describes the scene of the climbing to the roof with astonishment as an outsider. The person tries to see what is happening inside and when they become aware of Jesus' miracle, they come to their senses and becomes aware of how indifferent and selfish they have been to the paralytic's pain.

The leader must conclude this moment pointing out the different ways of looking at the event, inviting each one of the youth to situate themselves before the different positions.

ASK YOURSELF

Me and the text?

The leader must preface the moment for the individual prayer, inviting each youth to be alone and to answer the following questions:

1. Which character do you most identify with?
2. The paralytic couldn't get in because of the crowd. What do you think the crowd can mean? In what situations might you see "the crowd" in society?
3. In what situations are you this "crowd"?
4. What is the attitude of the men carrying the paralytic?
5. What do I need to be like these men?

SHARE

What about us?

Depending on the size of the group, the leader must decide if it is pertinent to challenge the youth to share the answers given in the "Ask Yourself" moment.

After the sharing moment, the leader must summarize the answers highlighting the most relevant ones, and emphasizing that in heaven, the saints continually intercede on behalf of us. Their prayer helps us reach Jesus.

RECEIVE

The world grows by praying for the righteous

Pope Francis

General Audience, 27.05.2020

The leader invites the youth to read the following text by the Pope (or watch the video that can be found on the Internet) that summarizes the meaning of the prayer of intercession:

"The world lives and grows thanks to the power of God whom these servants attract with their prayer. It is not at all a boisterous chain, and rarely makes headlines, yet it is so important to restoring trust to the world! [...] Prayer is always a chain of life: many men and women who pray sow life. [...] The journey of God in the history of God is conveyed through them: it has passed through a 'remainder' of humanity that has not conformed to the law of the fittest, but has asked God to perform his miracles, and above all to transform our hearts of stone into hearts of flesh (Ez 36:26). And this helps prayer: because prayer opens the door to God, turning our often-stony hearts into a human heart. And this demands a lot of humanity, and with humanity one can pray well."

Bridging the gap between the sharing and the text, the testimonial video about Sister Marta Mendes must be shown. Sister Marta is certainly a great intercessor with God, on behalf of the all youth so that they get to know and love Christ.

PRAY

Feel the power of prayer

The leader arranges the space in such a way as to prepare it for contemplation. Some simple decoration can be used (imitating the Taizé style, for example) to accompany the necessary elements for the moment:

- An empty container to place the pieces of paper where each youth will register their prayer, flanked by a tile and a rope.
- The tile and the rope recall how the men brought the paralytic to Jesus: climbing up to the ceiling (tile) and climbing down on the stretcher (rope).

The leader must distribute a blank piece of paper to each youth. Afterwards the leader must briefly explain the moment, referring to the elements of the scenario, next to which they will place their prayers. Individually, each youth writes on the paper a prayer to Jesus, for Him to intercede on behalf of someone's needs. Background music can be used.

Once the prayer is written, the pieces of paper are handed out using the following scheme:

- Calmly one youth at a time stands up and places their prayer in the empty container. This must be repeated until everyone has delivered their prayer.
- During this moment the following song is sung:

Stay with us O Lord Jesus Christ, night will soon fall.

Then stay with us O Lord Jesus Christ, light in our darkness. (Taizé)

The leader must be sure that after the meeting the papers are burned.

RISE UP

Rising suddenly before them

The leader must refer to the Penitential Celebration and to how one rises as new person by having all sins forgiven.

Living the new life through Baptism involves helping others reaching Jesus, as did the men who carried the paralytic.

Like St. Jacinta who found prayer to be a source of intercession on behalf of sinners, also youth can intercede on behalf of the "paralytics of today," of those who need our prayer, and make sacrifices for them.

Saint Jacinta also liked to pray for the Holy Father. If on the one hand the Christian is called to be intimate with God, on the other hand they are called to lead through prayer their brothers and sisters to the same God.

The leader can challenge the youth to prepare a moment of prayer of the Rosary for the entire Christian community, keeping in mind the needs of the whole world.

KEEP GOING

They brought the paralytic

The leader must now challenge the youth to reinforce their commitment to the members of the community for whom they are responsible, that is, the elderly and the diseased. The leader asks them to think of a way to make these people feel Jesus' closeness.

The leader may also suggest watching and reflecting on the movie: "Beyond the Blackboard" This film portrays a teacher who intercedes on behalf of her students to make them have better living and learning conditions.

The group can address themes such as forgetting about oneself to think of others, the attitude of getting out of the comfort zone and attending to the needs of others, interceding on their behalf.

YES, I BELIEVE!

+ From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

The prayer of intercession

2634. Intercession is a prayer of petition which leads us to pray as Jesus did. He is the one intercessor with the Father on behalf of all men, especially sinners. [Cf. Rom 8:34; 1 Jn 2:1; 1 Tim 2:5-8] He is "able for all time to save those who draw near to God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them." [Heb 7:25] The Holy Spirit "himself intercedes for us... and intercedes for the saints according to the will of God." [Rom 8:26-27]

2635. Since Abraham, intercession - asking on behalf of another has been characteristic of a heart attuned to God's mercy. In the age of the Church, Christian intercession participates in Christ's, as an expression of the communion of saints. In intercession, he who prays looks "not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others," even to the point of praying for those who do him harm.

PERSONAL PROJECT

#4 Step - I pray and offer for others

"...some men, carrying a paralytic on a stretcher, sought ... to place him before him" (Lk 5:18)

The fourth step of our journey reminds us that true joy is in the gift that we make of ourselves to others.

To reflect upon:

- Who can I pray for during the next few days?
- How is my Concrete Conversion Step going? Evaluate it.
- Add to the Concrete Conversion Step a sacrifice I can offer for those who suffer.

MEETING #5

Rise up and Follow Me (Lk 5:27-32)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To know Levi's (Matthew) story of conversion and following Jesus.
- To discover that Jesus calls us in our daily life
- To deepen our own vocation.

Information for the leader:

- This meeting suggests a reading of the biblical text through art to be done, particularly the painting of the vocation of Levi (or Matthew) by Caravaggio.
- For the explanation of the painting, we can use the presentation with the different parts of the painting or the entire canvas.
- The entire painting must be projected during the moment of prayer (the room must have a medium light – if it helps, background music can be used).

Necessary material:

- Objects: coins, a bag of money, pens, a computer, a photo of one of the world's best known stock exchanges, etc.
- Caravaggio's painting in digital format.
- Background music.

GET READY

The Business World

The following objects must be set up in a visible-to-all area: coins, a bag of money, pens, a computer, a photo of one of the best-known stock exchanges in the world, etc.

The leader must begin the meeting by inviting the youth to observe what they see and to imagine what it is about. You can question the youth by helping them to decipher the meaning of the symbols:

- What are we seeing? (coins, money bag, pens, computer, table, etc.)
- Where are we? (City, bank, company, tax office, etc.)
- What does it evoke in us? (Economic crisis/success, business race, dream, success, stress, corruption, etc.)

After this initial dialogue, the leader must question the youth if the business world can be a place where God passes by?

After listening to their responses, the leader must mention that cities and things that are part of life like money can also be places where Jesus passes by and calls – these can be places of encounter with Him.

Then the leader must mention the dialogue that must be established by a WYD between the Church and society. A WYD is only possible if there is active participation by the States, participation by enterprises and companies etc. Even the youth who participate will have to provide with some monetary help. Our group is also already organizing ways to contribute to the expenses of WYD so that as many youth as possible can participate.

There is an initiative in the WYD called "Days in the Dioceses" that occurs in the period that precedes the WYD. This initiative is meant for the youth from other countries to get to know the cities of the hosting country of the WYD. This is also an expression of dialogue between the Church and society. It makes the presence of Jesus sensitive and visible; He who passes through all places and calls all people.

Next the leader must show a short video about the days in the dioceses:

Video: "Days in Dioceses": <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7DZgFygyGE4>.

After the video, the leader must introduce the biblical text and refer that it talks about someone who, amidst the hustle and bustle of the city, recognized Jesus passing by, heard His voice, and decided to follow Him forever.

LISTEN

The calling of Levi

The leader must invite everyone to pay attention to the biblical text mentioning that the name Levi refers to Matthew, a name we hear more often.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 5:27-32)

²⁷Then he went out, and caught sight of a publican, called Levi, sitting at work in the customs house, and said to him, Follow me. ²⁸And he rose up, and left all behind, and followed him. ²⁹Then Levi made a great feast for him in his house, and there was a crowded company of publicans and others who were their fellow guests. ³⁰Whereupon the Pharisees and scribes complained to his disciples, How comes it that you eat and drink with publicans and sinners? ³¹But Jesus answered them, It is those who are sick, not those who are in health, that have need of the physician. ³²I have not come to call the just; I have come to call sinners to repentance.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After reading the text, the leader must project the painting "The Vocation of St. Matthew" by Caravaggio onto a wall.

The leader must begin by asking if there is any relation between the painting and the objects used at the beginning of the meeting.

Then, based on the PPT presentation, the leader must present the different details of the painting, which can be complemented with the following ones:

The setting:

- The episode takes place in an empty, dimly lit space where the only furniture is a table and some chairs. On the table is a bag and money being counted. It is the place where tax debts are being collected.

- Galilee, the province where this takes place, was known as a land of Gentiles. It was outside the heavily religious area of Judea, where Matthew was from. Galilee was an intensely commercial area where the trade routes from Asia Minor passed through, and where trade between various peoples took place in a protected manner, enriching the population and resulting in tax benefits for the Romans. The social context was pluralist, secular, and flexible as to the observance of religious precepts, such as the observance of the Sabbath rest. Religion was seen as a matter for the individual.
- On the wall there is a window, but no light comes in; it appears to be opaque and has a shutter. It functions to mark the division between inner and outer space. However, it raises a question: is the scene taking place in an interior or exterior space, public or private? If it is interior, why doesn't the window let in light and what is the purpose of the shutter? If it is outside, why does the light seem to come in through another window or gap? From the ambiguity of space, it can be inferred that the master's call surpasses space; there is no space where Jesus' call cannot reach.

The characters:

- It is the light and shadow in this painting that define the characters.
- Five men are seated around the table. In front of the five tax collectors, on the opposite side of the composition, two other men are entering the room. One of them is Jesus Christ who with outstretched arm points to Matthew, that is sitting at the table. The other is St. Peter who makes a similar gesture to Jesus, but less obviously.
- Jesus points to the tax collector Levi (Matthew). Some authors argue that Matthew is the bearded man in the center, overshadowed by the light that suddenly enters the room, and seems to move backwards in a motion of astonishment. Pointing to himself with his left hand, he seems to be saying in response, "Who, me?"
- However, another explanation indicates that Matthew will instead be the man at the head of the table still blindly counting the money. In this case, Jesus is looking at him and pointing at him head-on. He doesn't realize it yet, but the light is about to illuminate his face. At any moment the light makes him raise his eyes realizing the Master's call.
- This interpretation, perhaps more actualized, suggests that the bearded man is not actually pointing at himself, but at the young man who stands with his head down, immersed in counting money, so that asking, "Who, him?" Other art critics think that Caravaggio deliberately left the composition ambiguous, leaving it up to the observer to choose. In any case, this uncertainty brings us back to the fact that Jesus calls everyone (there are many "Matthews"); Jesus did not come to call only the Jews (as was the case with Matthew). His call also extends to the Gentiles, to the other publicans who related to him, to all men and women of all times, places, and cultures.
- The other seated characters show different behaviors. The two young men with the feathered beret are looking at the foreigners who have entered.
- The old man in the fur collar examines the young man's count, bent over the table.

The composition

- The painting can be divided into two opposing parts: on the left, the group of five men seated around the table forms a horizontal block; on the right, the figures of Christ and St. Peter follow a vertical arrangement.
- The clothes also emphasize the counting position of the two groups. On one side, Levi and the tax collectors are elegantly dressed, according to Caravaggio's era.

- On the other side, with bare feet and dressed in old clothes, are Jesus and Peter. The absence of shoes symbolizes the ideal of poverty that those who follow Jesus should live. Their feet are directed to the door, as if to indicate that they are leaving.
- The two blocks are separated by an empty space in the center of the representation, filled only by Jesus' right hand, which creates a connection between them.
- Notice how Jesus' hand reproduces Adam's hand, painted in the Sistine Chapel by Michelangelo in Creation of Adam. One author describes Caravaggio's intention thus: "Everything leads us to believe that Christ does to him or disposes himself to have Matthew do what God did to Adam: Christ asks Matthew to create him, concretely to biograph him. (...) Christ, erased, in the darkness covered up by Peter, asks Matthew to create and "invent" him". (When he became Apostle and evangelist, Matthew biographies Christ, brings him to light for the people to whom he preached the Good News).
- In Caravaggio's painting, the biblical episode is realistically portrayed and adapted to the historical times of the painter. The characters around the table are dressed in contemporary clothing and are in an environment that observers of the time could recognize as one of many meeting places, a Roman tavern in the 1600s.
- The artist's intention was to express a religiosity within the reach of all social classes, also of those who were considered to be sinners. Levi's call becomes the representation of something that could happen to any man of that time and at any time.

The light

- As mentioned above, light does not enter through the window figured in the composition. There is a strong light beam that breaks through from the right side of the composition, without us knowing its source. Caravaggio would precisely know the place the painting would occupy in the Contarelli chapel to where it was commissioned. This light that enters over Christ's head would come from a window in the chapel. On the other hand, it symbolically alludes to God himself, the Trinity, a source that extrapolates and transcends our perception and the limits of the world ("God is light, and in him is no shadow of darkness" 1 Jn 1:5).
- There is also light coming from outside of the composition, coming from another direction. Christ is Himself illuminated and the illumination of other characters seems to indicate that there is a light coming from below. Caravaggio would have known that below the place where the painting would be placed would be the altar area, where Christ is present in the Eucharist. He who is the light of the world illuminates the characters in this painting.
- The light in this painting by Caravaggio is therefore a symbolic light, not a physical light. It represents the grace offered for the salvation of the soul. The salvation that is received by those who look to Jesus and welcome His light. Those who remain in the shadows, still live closed in themselves and with the limited things of the world.

Others

- In 1951 X-rays taken to the painting revealed that the figure of Peter was added later to the first layer. Its insertion refers to the role of the Church in continuing to call, just like Christ did. God never calls directly, but always through the Church, represented by Peter.
- The presence of spectacles is a demonstration of the scrupulous care Caravaggio devotes to every detail of the painting. Symbolically, they may represent "myopia" that results from being blinded by money.

RECEIVE

Jesus calls you to follow Him

Based on the biblical text of the vocation of St. Matthew, a seminarian can be invited to talk about his vocational story. The following aspects can be highlighted:

- How have you realized you were being called to follow Jesus?
- Jesus sees us and calls us in the places where we are.
- Jesus wants us and makes us his disciples: from amazement to membership, from membership to the proclamation of the Kingdom of God.
- The discovery of our own vocation and its various concretizations are part of God's plan for us.
- Jesus calls you to be his disciple.

PRAY AND ASK YOURSELF

Contemplating myself in the painting

The leader must introduce the moment of prayer, mentioning that the time has come for everyone to identify themselves with the painting of Levi's vocation.

The leader must contextualize Levi's vocation into the broader context of Luke's Gospel concerning the calling of the first disciples on Lake Gennesaret narrated in Lk 5:1-11.

Some background music can be played.

The leader must show the whole painting again and ask each youth to silently follow the instructions in the Pilgrim's Journal:

- Choose a position to pray.
- Focus your gaze on the painting and answer the questions presented.

Pilgrim's Journal:

- Choose a comfortable, balanced, quiet place and body position.
- Keeping the Gospel episode in mind, focus your gaze on the painting, and let Jesus lead you through this scene.
- Place yourself inside that dark space. What feelings, memories, smells come to you? What does it tell you about what resides inside you and the world?
- The light breaking through from the right side shines on all the characters in the painting. Each one reacts in a different way. Wear the shoes of one of those characters. Which one of them are you? Why is that so?
- You're feeling Jesus' gaze and His creative hand being directed towards you. How do you want to respond to His invitation? Are you saying yes or no?
- Following Jesus involves walking with Him, doing as He does, and going where He says. This is what means being His disciple. What does Jesus call you to do or change in your life to be his disciple?
- In what other situations, is Jesus calling you to walk in His light? What do you think you have to transform? What is it that you have to leave and abandon to follow Jesus?

ASK YOURSELF

My vocation

Pope Francis

Christus Vivit 248

Still in a prayerful atmosphere, the leader must invite the youth to read three of the following texts from the Exhortation Christus Vivit. The texts are meant to reflect on the vocational meaning of Christian life, and respective personal response to the vocation that God has for each person.

Text 1

It is true that the word “vocation” can be understood in a broad sense, as a call from God. It includes the call to life, the call to friendship with Him, the call to holiness, etc. This is valuable, because it places our whole life before the God who loves us Pope Francis and allows us to understand that nothing is the fruit of meaningless chaos, but that everything can Christus Vivit 248 be integrated into a path of response to the Lord, who has a precious plan for us.

Text 2

The fundamental thing is to discern and discover that what Jesus wants from every young person is, first of all, his friendship. This is the fundamental discernment. In the Risen Lord's dialogue with his friend Simon Peter, the big question was, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” (Jn 21:16). That is to say, do you want me as a friend? The mission that Peter receives Pope Francis to care for his sheep and lambs will always be linked to this gratuitous love, this Christus Vivit 250 love of friendship.

Text 3

To fulfil one's vocation, it is necessary to develop oneself, to make everything one is sprout and grow. It is not a matter of inventing oneself, of creating oneself out of nothing, but of discovering oneself in the light of God and making one's being flourish: “In the design of God, every man is called to promote his own progress, because the life of every man is a vocation.” Your vocation directs you to extract the best from yourself for the glory of God and the good of others. The important thing is not just to do things, but to do them with a meaning, with an orientation. In this regard, St. Albert Hurtado told youth that direction has to be taken very seriously: “In a boat, the pilot who gets distracted is fired without appeal, because he is risking something too sacred. And in life, do we take care of our course? What is your course? If it is necessary to develop this idea further, I ask each of you to give it the utmost importance, because getting this right is simply getting it right, and failing this is simply failing.”

Text 4

I want you to know that the Lord, when he thinks of someone, of what he would like to give him as a gift, sees him as his personal friend. And if he has decided to give you a grace, a charism that will make you live your life to the full by making you a useful person to others, someone who leaves a mark on history, it will certainly be something that will make you happy in the most intimate part of yourself and will excite you more than anything else Pope Francis in this world. Not, because the gift granted is an extraordinary or rare charisma, but Christus Vivit 288 because it is precisely to your measure, to the measure of your whole life.

After reading the texts, each youth must answer the following questions:

- Do my life choices and style present signs of my will to correspond to the Lord's call?
- Do I feel like I am getting closer and closer to the vocation to which God is calling me?

At the end of this exercise, the following song is sung:

O God, keep me safe (Behüte mich Gott, Taizé)

O God keep me safe, for I trust in You
The pathway to life You teach me.
With you is peace and joy in all fullness.

*Behüte mich Gott, ich vertraue dir
Du zeigst mir den Weg zum Leben
Bei dir ist Freude, Freude in Fülle*

RISE UP AND SHARE

The leader must invite the youth to talk personally with them, with a priest or with another person of reference in the Christian community about the questions worked upon in the "Ask Yourself" moment.

KEEP GOING

(close to us

Until the next meeting, the youth are invited to read a book that presents a vocation story. They will be able to confront themselves with God's call in the life of a concrete person.

As suggestions: Guido Schäffer, St. Francis of Assisi, Frederick Ozanam.

Called to be disciples

520. Throughout his life, Jesus shows himself to be our model: He is “the perfect man” who invites us to become his disciples and follow him; by his humiliation, he gives us an example to imitate; by his prayer, he invites us to prayer; by his poverty, he stimulates us to freely accept self-denial and persecution.

PERSONAL PROJECT

#5 Step – Talking about my vocation

“Rising up, he followed him.” (Lk 5:28)

In the fifth step of this pilgrimage, we challenge you to talk to someone about your vocation. God calls you to happiness!

Pray, choose a person to talk to, and organize the ideas to share. Think about the various vocations.

To reflect upon:

- What vocation speaks the most to me? What am I attracted to? What do I fear in each options?
- I am the “now of God”! Who do I serve? What mission does God call me to?
- How is my Specific Conversion Step going? (Evaluate it.)

MEETING #6

Rise up and show yourself (Luke 6:6-11)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To understand the prophetic dimension of the WYD through the testimony of the youth.
- To remember the miracles of personal life in which Jesus invites us to rise up.
- To accept that God wants to use me as a protagonist in the building of his Kingdom.

Information for the leader:

The core of this meeting is the words of Jesus to the man whose atrophied hand was healed. Jesus said to him, "Rise up and stand in front of everyone". This is the challenge that resides in the meeting – youth shall feel loved and healed by the Lord, and encouraged to "stand in front of everyone", to share their faith with joy and enthusiasm, so that others may believe. The meeting ends with a moment of prayer and a commitment is made to be give a testimony of the joy of the encounter with Jesus for the community.

Necessary material:

- Toy building blocks (two blocks per participant).
- Pens to write on the building blocks.
- Icon of Our Lady WYD Salus populi romani;
- A space for pondering and sharing and another for praying.

GET READY

Testimony of trust, joy, and faith

In the meeting space there are several building blocks scattered all over the floor. The leader must keep the block that has "stand up" written on it without the youth seeing it.

Then the leader must inform the youth that this meeting will talk about one of the characteristics of the WYD – the testimony of trust, joy, and faith that the youth give to the hosting city of the WYD. For this mark and presence to be credible during the WYD, it is necessary that the youth not only assume it during WYD, but also from this moment on.

The leader now suggests a game to be done with the blocks, requesting each youth to choose two blocks. One must be kept and the other is to be used in the following way:

- The leader must request each youth to think of:
 - How do they imagine the environment of a WYD to be?
 - What testimony do the youth leave in the hosting city of the WYD?
 - What makes the WYD different from other youth gatherings?
- The leader must let the youth express themselves and share their ideas. If there are any youth who have been to other WYDs, they can briefly share their experience.
- Then, each person places one block in a designated place to build a "city," the city of the WYD.
- The other piece is saved for another moment.

LISTEN

Rise up and stand in front of everyone

The leader must introduce the proclamation of the biblical text, indicating that further on there will be a moment of silence where the youth can share the results of their pondering and meditation based on this text and other provocations.

The proclamation of the biblical text follows.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 6:6-11)

⁶And on another sabbath day it happened that he went into the synagogue to teach, when there was a man there who had his right hand withered. ⁷The scribes and Pharisees were watching him, to see whether he would restore health on the sabbath, so that they might have a charge to bring against him. ⁸He knew their secret thoughts, and said to the man who had his hand withered, Rise up, and come forward; whereupon he rose to his feet. ⁹Then Jesus said to them, I have a question to ask you; which is right, to do good on the sabbath day, or to do harm? To save life, or to make away with it? ¹⁰And he looked round on them all, and said to him, Stretch out thy hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored to him. ¹¹And they were overcome with fury, debating with one another what they could do to Jesus.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After a moment of silence in which everyone reads the text again, small groups are to be created.

The leader must invite the youth to look at the floor plan of a synagogue drawn in the Pilgrim's Journal. The leader must mention that in one of the previous meetings, the group talked about a text whose scene takes place in the Synagogue of Nazareth (cf. Luke 4:16-21).

The leader must explain the meaning of the text and highlight some of the following aspects:

- As Jesus performs miracles, many people follow Him with enthusiasm.
- But some people and groups also see Jesus as a threat, mistrusting His intentions, especially the doctors of the Law and the Pharisees.

Next, the leader must request each group to reflect on one of the synagogue's captions.

Caption 1: Synagogue

Synagogue means "place of assembly." In Jesus' time, synagogues were the largest building in a town. It had a simple rectangular structure, with a gable roof and a mosaic floor. Synagogues were usually oriented towards Jerusalem. On the east wall was a chest for storing the scrolls of Scripture. They were the prayer place of the community that gathered on Saturdays for the reading and commentary of some passage of Scripture. Those who read the word of God sat on a raised platform, and the biblical commentary was usually in a seat reserved for the master (rabbi). The people sat on stone or wooden benches along the walls or on mats on the floor. In the synagogue men and women gathered indiscriminately, although separately and in different areas. Jewish sources place the origins of synagogues soon after the destruction of the first Temple by the Babylonians (6th century BC). Even with the existence of the Temple, in Jesus' time synagogues continued to function in communities that had at least ten men. The reading of the Law was always done in Hebrew by the rabbi, but the reading of the Prophets that followed, as well as the Writings, which was also sometimes done, could be done in Aramaic, the language that was spoken, and by any man from the age of thirteen (Lk 4:14-21).

Caption 2: Sabbath

The Sabbath is the seventh day of the week, the one that divides the weeks. It is a day on which one rests after six days of work. However, its significance comes not simply from marking the rhythm of the weeks, but from the fact that it is the sanctified day, dedicated to God, the day to celebrate God's Covenant with his people. As a day of joy and a time of special dedication to God, it is a day of rest, of prayer and teaching, on which it is forbidden to do any kind of work, travel certain distances, cook, or eat certain foods. Jesus is criticized by the Jewish authorities for performing miracles and healings on the Sabbath.

Caption 3: Doctors of the Law

Men who devoted themselves to the study, interpretation, and teaching of the Law of Moses (the Law, for the Jews, is a strong sign of God's presence). They were a kind of theologians, teachers, and guardians of the Law. In this text, they are observing Jesus to pressure Him not to perform miracles on the Sabbath day. St. Luke reveals the fury of these men at Jesus' prophetic intervention.

Caption 4: Pharisees

They were a kind of religious party whose thinking was based on taking care of purity, the observance of legal prescriptions, and charitable works. They were the most prominent group in society at the time of Jesus. Together with the Doctors of the Law, they were Jesus' adversaries. According to the Pharisees, medical interventions could only be done on Saturday in the case of danger of death, which is not the case with the man with the paralyzed hand. They are also furious that Jesus performs the healing.

Caption 5: Man with paralyzed hand

This is an anonymous figure whose name we do not even know – only that his right hand is paralyzed. Certainly, known to most of those present ones and to whom nothing can be done anymore.

He is the object of Jesus' salvation that frees him from his atrophy and paralysis. The right hand is certainly the hand that this man needed the most for his daily life, to work and to develop other activities.

However, this man's healing is not only a personal benefit that was granted to him. By wanting that man to be an argument to show His strength and power as the Son of God, Jesus calls him to Himself and commands Him, "Stand up", as if to say to him: I need you, so that through you and what I will do to you, others believe in the power of my love.

Jesus calls this man with a disability, marginalized, and exploited by the doctors of the Law, and makes His healing become a sign of God's mercy and power being accomplished to others.

After this, each group must explain to the rest of the youth the meaning of each caption, particularly characterizing their symbolism in the text, that is, their relationship to Jesus.

The leader must now describe the way Jesus is presented in the text, explaining the relationship He establishes with the other figures and highlighting the following aspects:

- Jesus presents Himself as a pious Jew who fulfils the duty of praying in the synagogue on the Sabbath. However, He presents Himself as a teacher and interpreter of the Law and the Covenant while trying to restore a saving and liberating meaning to the Sabbath. By His action Jesus demonstrates that the Sabbath is a day to do good and to save lives. He shows that the Law's purpose is for man to love more and better, and not for good and love to be blocked and hindered.
- The text places Jesus' action directly linked to the thoughts of the Doctors of the Law and the Pharisees. Jesus appears with a provocative tone by showing His opposition to what these thought. By commanding the man who has a paralyzed hand to "Stand up and stand in the middle," Jesus wants to tell him that he shall not be afraid or ashamed of anything, he can stand "upright" before the Doctors, because the love of God that he has received is stronger than any law. And he stands there, in the middle, showing himself and showing the strength of God's love in Jesus.
- Jesus performs the miracle. Love is revealed in that man who serves as a witness, so that others will believe in the power of love, good and life. For others to know how to make the right choice, Jesus says, "I ask you, does the Sabbath allow you to do good or to do evil, to save a life or to destroy it?"
- Pope Francis says that in this text Jesus does not appear only as a healer, but as someone who "recreates existence." Jesus comes to recreate and free the two kinds of slavery present in the text – the one that resides in the man with "the paralyzed hand, slave to his illness" and the one of "the Pharisees, the scribes, slaves to their rigid, legalistic attitudes." Jesus sets them all free. He first shows the rigid ones that that is not the way to freedom, and then he heals the sick man. (Pope Francis, Homily at Santa Marta, September 9, 2013).

The leader must conclude this moment by providing an analysis of the text according to the lives of the youth:

- Through that man, Jesus showed the world His power to offer life, good, and joy. Jesus wanted to need him so that he could be an example and a witness.
- The Lord also wants to need us. Jesus gives us the mission to reveal the wonders of God's love to others with our, so they may believe through our testimony.
- This is our mission as WYD pilgrims – to witness Jesus' presence in Lisbon 2023, here, and now in our daily lives.
- Our society needs youth who are able to "stand up," to let themselves be healed, transformed, and converted by Jesus, who will stand up in the middle of the world to show others that same path.

RECEIVE
Recreate existence

Right now a testimony of the life of Chiara Petrillo must be presented.

Video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_YuHx8Fjmx8

Either before or after the film, the leader must pose the following question: Did Chiara Petrillo and her husband live as slaves, or did they know how to recreate existence? In what way did they announce the wonders of God in their lives?

ASK YOURSELF

Rise up, I need you

After the video, the leader must invite the youth to read the biblical text in silence and to meditate, dialoguing with God about the following points:

Imagining the text

- I let myself be put in the place of the man who was healed. I let myself imagine what his life would be like.
- I let myself contemplate his surprise and feelings at Jesus' command (fear, trust, etc.).
- I let myself thank the way his healing worked as moment to witness the power of Jesus' love in the face of oppressive forces.

Looking at my life

- I let myself remember situations in my life where I have felt God's healing, His liberation, His light.
- I let myself meditate on the example of Chiara Petrillo and ask what small steps are possible in my life to stop living in paralysis?
- I let myself remember moments when I experienced Jesus doing "miracles", wonderful things, telling me: "Get up! I need you so that, through you and what I am going to do in you, others will believe in the power of love, of forgiveness...!"
- I let myself choose a word or drawing that expresses what I feel when Jesus makes miracles in my life and tells me, "Get up, I need you. I write on the second construction piece".

SHARE

The leader must now reveal the block with the verb "Rise up" written on it.

Then the leader must request each young to freely share the meaning and the reason for the word written on the play, that is, the moment when they felt Jesus was telling them, "Get up!" and doing "miracles", wonderful things in his life.

PRAY

A new construction

Standing in front of the icon of Our Lady, a short moment of prayer follows.

Song

The Kingdom of God is justice and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.
Come Lord and open in us the gates of your Kingdom. (Taizé)

- Moment of silence.
- Proclamation of Lk 6:6-11.
- Silence and singing.
- Prayer read by two youth alternately:

"Only God can... But you..."

1. Only God can create,
2. But you can give value what He created.

1. Only God can give life,
2. But you can transmit it and respect it.

1. Only God can make it grow,
2. But you can guide and orient it.

1. Only God can give faith,
2. But you can be a sign from God for your brother.

1. Only God can give love,
2. But you can learn to love your brother.

1. Only God can give strength,
2. But you can cheer the others up.

1. Only God can give hope,
2. But you can give your brother back confidence.

1. Only God can give joy,
2. But you can always smile.

1. Only God is the way,
2. But you can teach the way to your brother.

1. Only God is light,
2. But you can make Him shine for your brother.

1. Only God can work miracles,
2. But you have to offer him your five loaves and two fish.

1. Only God can do the impossible,
2. But you have to do what you can.

1. Only God is enough to Himself,
2. But He wanted to need each of us.

National Secretariat for the Prayer Apostolate ,

*GPS for Christian Life,
Braga, Prayer Apostolate,
2011, p. 123*

In the end, the leader must invite each youth to go to the icon of Our Lady and place their block on top of the "Rise Up" block. The leader must explain that this construction symbolizes their commitment to build a different "city" around them, showing others the graces received from the Lord.

The previous song can be sung during the activity.

Once the construction is finished, the group shall pray a Hail Mary, entrusting their mission and commitment to Our Lady.

RISE UP

Go to the middle

Recalling the initial moment of the meeting and alluding to the presence of youth in the cities of the hosting country of each WYD, the leader must mention that the presence of the youth in Lisbon will be as important for the city, as for each person living this challenge.

Before transforming Lisbon in 2023 with their testimony, the youth should feel called to go to the middle of their cities, villages, towns. To the middle of their schools and universities, work, family, friends, parish... To the middle of where and with whom they live and there show the power of Jesus.

The leader must invite the youth to choose a group commitment through which they will show to others what they have recognized as God's grace and miracle in their lives.

Considering what they have said in the sharing moment, the leader can help the youth to realize their commitments.

At the end the leader must invite each youth to randomly collect one of the blocks placed in the construction during the prayer and take it home. The youth must remember that in order to bear witness to the love of Jesus, they need to rely on each other's commitments.

KEEP GOING

Besides the group commitment, it is suggested that the group watches the movie I'm not ashamed (2016) discussing it later.

Until the next meeting, the youth must build a cross identical to the WYD cross.

One Body

790. Believers who respond to God's word and become members of Christ's Body, become intimately united with him: "In that body the life of Christ is communicated to those who believe, and who, through the sacraments, are united in a hidden and real way to Christ in his Passion and glorification."²²⁰ This is especially true of Baptism, which unites us to Christ's death and Resurrection, and the Eucharist, by which "really sharing in the body of the Lord, we are taken up into communion with him and with one another."

PERSONAL PROJECT

#6 Step – I thank God

Rise up and stand in the middle (Lk 6:8)

In this step of the journey, you are invited to exercise gratitude. Gratitude is an attitude that helps us recognize God's goodness in our lives.

To reflect on:

- What do you want to be grateful for?
- Share your reasons for gratitude with the person you chose in the previous step. Continue the conversation about your spiritual life and you will see how God will give you light to walk by.
- Evaluate your Concrete Conversion Step one more time. How have you been living it?

MEETING #7

Rise up and live (Lk 7:11-17)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To deepen the Pope's message regarding the World Youth Day 2020 (lived in the dioceses).
- To experience how Jesus is present in the life and death situations of one's own existence.
- To be confronted with the real experience of their dreams and how they strive for them.

Information for the leader:

- This meeting's core is the message proffered by Pope Francis for WYD 2020. The theme "Young man, I say to you, rise up!" (Lk 7:14) is the first to the journey of preparation for WYD Lisbon. The message is adapted to each moment of the meeting, particularly in the "Listen" and "Receive" moments.
- The centrality of prayer is also emphasized in this meeting and is present at the beginning and at the part linked to the "Ask Yourself" moment.
- As there are several interventions by youth in this meeting, the "Share" moment is not confined to a defined space.
- Considering the option of viewing or not the testimony by Bethany Hamilton, the suggested work can be done in pairs, if needed.

Necessary material:

- Group cross (built after the last meeting).
- Video of Pope Francis' meditation on the Way of the Cross at WYD in Rio de Janeiro: <https://youtu.be/qev8aOtP18A>;
- Video about Bethany Hamilton: <https://bethanyhamilton.com/> or <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lgzR4oTB4e0>;
- T-light candles.

GET READY

The WYD Cross

*Pope John Paul II's
Homily, April 22nd 1984*

"My dear youth, at the conclusion of the Holy Year, I entrust to you the sign of this Jubilee Year: the Cross of Christ! Carry it throughout the world as a symbol of Christ's love for humanity, and announce to everyone that only in the death and resurrection of Christ we can find salvation and redemption."

In the Holy Year of Redemption (1983-1984) John Paul II felt like a cross should be placed near the main altar in St Peter's Basilica, where it could be seen by all. A large wooden cross, 3.8 meters high, was placed there according to the Pope's wishes. At the end of the Holy Year, after closing the Holy Door, the Pope entrusted this same Cross to the youth from all over the world, that were represented by the youth of the Youth Centre of St. Lawrence in Rome.

One of the highest points of any WYD is the celebration of the Via Crucis (The Way of The Cross), in which each person faces the mystery of the life, passion and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Let us receive the Cross of our Savior as well with the hymn of the WYD Rome 2000.

The leader must choose two youth to bring the group's cross in procession and place it in a prominent place. While this is happening, the youth are invited to stand up to receive the cross. During this moment a song can be sung.

Emmanuel – World Youth Day Hymn Rome 2000

A light has dawned in our horizon, telling us the story
Reminding us of how He won the dark years of our history
Illumined by His light we see that life is not worth living,
If we don't seek the Truth that lives deep in our hearts

With faith we set our hearts to Rome from every road and city
We hear the echo of His word resounding from the Heavens
Today I lived a man that's true, it's Christ who stands between us Together let us all proclaim He is with us!

We are here together under His light

Together under His cross

We sing His song with one voice:

Emmanuel, Emmanuel, Emmanuel

Emmanuel, Emmanuel, Emmanuel

This city which has been founded by our martyrs out of love
It has transformed the ancient world, will guide us on our way
With Peter and the saints, we follow Christ whose love renews us
And with His word alive in us we can declare

For God so loved the world He gave us Christ His only son
By His light we are renewed and gave us our salvation
A man that's true, the Bread of Life, He's God of all the nations
Once more He offers us Himself and we declare

The leader must invite the youth to contemplate the cross of Jesus as a sign of the life He gave us. By overcoming death, He calls us to true life. The refrain of the song can be sung.

Next, the leader must mention that the cross is one of the most important symbols of the WYD. The World Youth Day Cross was given by Pope Saint John Paul II to the youth at the end of the celebrations for the Holy Year of Redemption in 1984. This cross has travelled through all the hosting countries of the WYD.

The leader must refer that one of the highest points of a WYD is the celebration of the Way of the Cross, in which we are confronted with this mystery of the life, passion, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The leader must then present the video with Pope Francis' meditation on the Way of the Cross at the WYD in Rio de Janeiro.

LISTEN

Young man, I tell you: Rise up

The leader must introduce the proclamation of the biblical text, pointing out that this text was the theme of Pope Francis' message for WYD 2020.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 7:11-17)

¹¹And now it happened that he was going into a city called Naim, attended by his disciples and by a great multitude of people. ¹²And just as he drew near the gate of the city, a dead man was being carried out to his burial; the only son of his mother, and she was a widow; and a crowd of folk from the city went with her. ¹³When the Lord saw her, he had pity on her, and said, Do not weep. ¹⁴Then he went up and put his hand on the bier; and those who were carrying it stood still. And he said, Young man, I say to thee, rise up. ¹⁵And the dead man sat up, and spoke; and Jesus gave him back to his mother. ¹⁶They were all overcome with awe, and said, praising God, A great prophet has risen up among us; God has visited his people. ¹⁷And this story of him was noised abroad throughout the whole of Judaea and all the country round.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After the reading and based on the notes that the Pope makes for each part of the text, the leader must ask the youth to individually highlight the gesture of Jesus that strikes them the most.

The gestures of Jesus

In this text, we see that Jesus, after entering the town of Nain, in Galilee, comes across a funeral cortege accompanying a young man, the only son of a widowed mother, to the grave. Touched by the woman's anguished suffering, Jesus performs the miracle of resurrecting her son. However, the miracle takes place after a series of attitudes and gestures: "When the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her and said to her, "Do not weep. And He came and touched the coffin, and those carrying it stood still" (Lk 7:13-14).

1. Seeing suffering and death

When Jesus entered the town of Nain in Galilee, He came upon a funeral cortege accompanying a young man, the only son of a widowed mother, to the grave.

Jesus looks attentively at the funeral procession. In the midst of the crowd, He sees the face of a woman marked by extreme suffering. His gaze generates an encounter, a source of new life. There is no need for many words.

2. To have compassion

Sacred Scripture often refers to the state of mind of one who is moved "to the core" by the pain of others. Jesus' emotion makes Him share the reality with the other. He takes upon Himself the misery of the other. The pain of that mother becomes His pain. The death of that son becomes His death.

3. Drawing near and “touching”

Jesus draws Himself near the funeral procession – He makes Himself close. Closeness urges us to go beyond, making a courageous gesture so that the other may live. A prophetic gesture is the touch of Jesus, the Living One, who transmits life. A touch that infuses the Holy Spirit into the dead body of the young man and rekindles his vital functions. That touch penetrates a reality of desolation and despair. It is the touch of the Divine, which also passes through authentic human love and opens up unimaginable spaces of freedom, dignity, hope, and new and full life. The efficacy of this gesture of Jesus is priceless. It reminds us that a sign of closeness, even when it simple and true, can arouse resurrection forces.

Pope Francis,
Message for the 35th World Youth
Day, 2020

4. “Young man, I say to you, rise up!”

The Gospel does not mention the name of that young man raised by Jesus at Nain. This is an invitation to the reader, to identify themselves with him.

In the end, the youth must briefly share what they highlighted in the text.

RECEIVE

A word from the Pope

Then, four groups are created. The leader must explain that each group will reflect on one of the aspects of the Pope's commentary on the text. At the end, each group presents to the others the content of the point on which they reflected.

1. Seeing suffering and death

I think of so many negative situations experienced by your contemporaries. For example, there are those who risk everything in the present moment with extreme experiences, endangering their own lives. But there are other youth who are “dead”, because they have lost hope. I heard a young woman say: “I see that among my friends the impetus to commit oneself, the courage to stand up, has been lost. Unfortunately, among youth, depression is also spreading, which can, in some cases, lead to the temptation to destroy one's life. There are so many situations where apathy reigns and the individual is lost in an abyss of anguish and remorse. Countless youth cry, without anyone hearing the cry of their soul. Often, all that is around them are distracted, indifferent glances, perhaps even those of someone enjoying their happy moments, keeping their distance.

There are those who let their days go by in superficiality, considering themselves alive when inside, in reality, they are dead (cf. Rev 3:1). It is possible to find oneself at twenty dragging along a decadent life, not worthy of one's dignity. Everything is reduced to “letting go,” being content with any gratification: a little entertainment, a few crumbs of attention and affection from others, etc. There is also a widespread digital narcissism, which influences both youth and adults. Many live like this! Some of them may have breathed around them the materialism of those who think only of making money and establishing themselves in life, as if these were their only goals. In the long run, a deafening uneasiness, an apathy, a boredom of life will inevitably appear, more and more distressing.

Negative behaviors can also be provoked by personal failures, when something that we had at heart and for which we had strived stops progressing or does not produce the expected results. This can happen in the school field, or with sporting and artistic pretensions, etc. The end of a “dream” can lead to feeling dead. But failures are part of every human being's life and can sometimes even prove to be a grace.

2. Have compassion

On many occasions, youth show that you know how to be compassionate. Just look at how generously many of you give of yourselves when circumstances demand it. There is no disaster, no earthquake, no flood that does not see groups of young volunteers come to the rescue. Even the great mobilization of youth who want to defend creation bears witness to your ability to hear the cry of the earth.

Dear youth, do not let this sensitivity be robbed from you. May you always hear the groans of those who suffer; may you be moved by those who weep and die in today's world. “Certain realities of life can only be seen with eyes cleansed by tears” (Christus vivit, 76). If you know how to cry with those who cry, you will be truly happy. There are so many of your contemporaries who are deprived of opportunities, suffer violence, persecution. Let their wounds become yours, and you will be bearers of hope in this world. You will be able to tell your brother, your sister “get up, you are not alone, you are not alone”, making them experience that God the Father loves us and Jesus is his hand extended to lift us up.

3. Draw near and touch

You too, youth, can approach the realities of suffering and death that you encounter, you can touch them and generate life like Jesus. This is possible, thanks to the Holy Spirit, if you are first touched by his love, if your heart is touched by the experience of his goodness towards you. Now, if you feel within you this passionate tenderness of God for every living creature, especially for the brother who is hungry, thirsty, sick, naked, imprisoned, then you will be able to approach like him, to touch like him, and to transmit his life to your friends who are dead inside, who suffer or have lost faith and hope.

4. “Young man, I say to you, arise!”

We well know that we Christians, too, fall and we must always get up. Only he who does not walk does not fall; but neither does he move forward. That is why we must welcome Christ's intervention and make an act of faith in God. The first step is to accept to get up. The new life that He gives us will be good and worth living, because it will be sustained by Someone who will accompany us also in the future without ever leaving us, helping us to spend this existence of ours in a worthy and fruitful way.

It is truly a new creation, a new birth, and not mere psychological persuasion. Probably in moments of difficulty many of you have repeatedly heard certain “magic” phrases that are trendy today and are supposed to solve everything. Things like “you must believe in yourself”, “you must find the resources within you”, “you must become aware of your positive energy”, etc. But all of these are mere words, and for those who are truly dead inside, they don't work. The word of Christ has another filling. It is infinitely superior, it is a divine and creative word, the only one that can restore life to where it has been extinguished.

Based on what the groups shared, the leader must reinforce some of the aspects they consider most important.

Pope Francis,
Message for the 35th World Youth
Day, 2020

PRAY AND ASK YOURSELF

Seeing myself in the light of the cross

To transition into a prayerful environment, the opening song can be sung. Another song be used, such as:

Per crucem et passionem tuam.
 Libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, Domine.
 Per crucem et passionem tuam.
 Libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, Domine.
 Per sanctam resurrectionem tuam.
 Libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, libera nos Domine, Domine. (Taizé)

Then, to the sound of instrumentals, the youth are invited to see themselves in the light of the love of Jesus presented in the text and which they can contemplate on the cross, through the following aspects highlighted by the Pope in his message:

- What does my gaze look like? Am I look attentively to things and people, or am I quickly looking just like I do with thousands of photos on my cell phone or social media?
- What has caused “death” in me or in someone close to me, in the present or in the past?
- The young man in the Gospel came back to life because he was looked on by Someone who wanted him to live. Have you ever been looked at by someone like that?
- All around me I encounter realities of death: physical, spiritual, emotional, social. Am I aware of this, or am I just suffering the consequences of it? Is there anything I can do to restore life to this realities?
- That young man died too soon. Surely, he had many dreams that remained unfulfilled. How do you react when your dreams do not come true?

After this time of individual meditation, we propose watching a documentary on the life of Bethany Hamilton, a young woman who, dreaming of being a professional surfer, saw her dream stolen by a shark that took her arm.

At the end, a moment of adoration of the Cross is proposed. One of the songs is sung again, or another appropriate song is chosen.

Then, in silence, each participant lights a candle from the Paschal candle and places it next to the cross. They must pray next to the cross with a gesture of adoration.

After the individual prayer, there is a community prayer based on the text from the Letter to the Philippians 2:5-11:

Reader 1: In your relationships with one another, have the same mindset as Christ Jesus:

Reader 2: Who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be used to his own advantage; rather, he made himself nothing by taking the very nature of a servant, being made in human likeness.

Everyone: Have the same mind among yourselves, which is in Christ Jesus.

Reader 3: Being made in human likeness, and being found in appearance as a man, Reader 4: He humbled himself, becoming obedient to death, even death on a cross.

Everyone: Have the same mind among yourselves, which is in Christ Jesus. .

Reader 5: For this very reason God has exalted him above all things and given him a name that is above every name,

Reader 6: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow,

Everyone: Have the same sentiments among yourselves, which are in Christ Jesus.

Reader 7: and let every tongue proclaim, "Jesus Christ is Lord!",

Reader 8: to the glory of God the Father.

Everyone: Have the same sentiments among you, which are in Christ Jesus.

RISE UP

The new life of the resurrected

With a prayerful atmosphere, the meeting ends with the choice and sharing of a personal commitment based on what each one has reflected on and received from the Pope's message, particularly with the following texts.

The Gospel says that the young man "began to speak" (Lk 7:15). The first reaction of a person who has been touched and restored to life by Christ is to express himself, to manifest without fear or complexes what he has inside: his personality, his desires, his needs, his dreams.

To speak also means to enter into a relationship with others. When one is "dead", the individual closes in on himself: relationships break down or become superficial, false, hypocritical. When Jesus gives us back our life, he "gives us back" to others (cf. Lk 7:15).

"Rise up" also means "dream", "risk", "strive to change the world", rekindle your desires, contemplate the sky, the stars, the world around you.

Because if you give your life, someone welcomes it. And if a young man falls in love with something, or rather with Someone, he finally gets up and starts doing great things; and, from the dead that he was, he can become a witness of Christ and give his life for Him.

Pope Francis,

*Message for the 35th World Youth
Day, 2020*

SHARE

This is followed by the sharing of personal commitments.

The group leader can launch the youth the challenge of identifying people who have lost a family member and are now living alone. The youth can think of ways to accompany these people.

KEEP GOING

It is suggested to watch the movies: Soul Surfer or Bethany Hamilton: unstoppable.

YES, I BELIEVE!

+ From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

The state of Christ's resurrected humanity

646. Christ's Resurrection was not a return to earthly life, as was the case with the risings from the dead that he had performed before Easter: Jairus' daughter, the young man of Naim, Lazarus. These actions were miraculous events, but the persons miraculously raised returned by Jesus' power to ordinary earthly life. At some particular moment they would die again. Christ's Resurrection is essentially different. In His risen body He passes from the state of death to another life beyond time and space. At Jesus' Resurrection, His body is filled with the power of the Holy Spirit: He shares the divine life in His glorious state, so that St. Paul can say that Christ is "the man of heaven"

PERSONAL PROJECT

#7 Step – Receiving the cross

«Don't cry» (Lk 7:13)

Suffering and death are realities that characterize our humanity, both on a physical and spiritual level. In the seventh step of your path, pray and reflect on the "losses" that you have experienced and that you still have to experience.

To reflect upon:

- What has caused "death" in me in the present, or in the past?
- How do I face loss and death (of people, of projects, of opinion...)?
- I look at the way Jesus welcomed the Cross. What can I learn from it?
- I evaluate my Specific Conversion Step.

MEETING #8

Wake up and rise up (Lk 8:40-42, 49-56)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To meditate on the realities that emanate light and on those that emanate shadows present in one's own existence and in the world.
- To recognize faith as the light that illuminates one's existence.
- To hear Jesus' invitation to "wake up".

Information for the leader:

- When approaching the biblical text, the leader must consider some aspects of the Pope's Message worked on in the previous meeting.
- The challenge of the "Keep going" section will be useful for the following meeting, especially for the activity suggested by the "Get ready" moment.

Necessary material:

- Phrase: "If you are with us, the night will not come".
- Pillow.
- Video accompanying the texts number 1,2,3, and 4 of the "Listen" moment
- Background music.
- Song: <https://youtu.be/KAyqE33-xFs>

GET READY

If you are with us, the night will not come

The meeting begins with the hymn of WYD Rome 1986, whose lyrics are in the Pilgrim's Journal

Stay with us - WYD Hymn Rome 1986

Darkness is closing in, the nighttime air surrounds us far beyond the horizon drift away the memories of a day that will never end of a day that will come again because we have seen the dawning of a new world and we've discovered a light that will always shine

Stay with us O Lord, the day is near its end
If you're with us O Lord, the day will never end.
Stay with us O Lord, the day is near its end
If you're with us O Lord, the day will never end.

Your love is like the waves, the waves upon the ocean they are guided by the wind to the ends of the Earth, so that all people may live as one so that we can see the sun shining like a flame that turns into a blazing fire in the same way your love will invade the world.

After listening to the hymn, the leader must briefly talk about it, highlighting the following aspects:

- Ask the youth if they know this song.
 - This song, composed by the musical group Gen Rosso, was sung at some youth meetings held in Rome, particularly at the Jubilee of Youth on the occasion of the Holy Year of Redemption in 1984. It was taken on as the hymn of the first WYD in 1986 in the city of Rome.
- The leader must then explain that every WYD has a hymn. The leader must ask if they know of one of the hymns, and which one, and lets them express themselves.
 - The WYD hymn is one of the strongest marks of each edition. Youth around the world try to learn the original version and also translate the lyrics into their own languages. The hymn is inspired by the theme of each WYD. J.

The leader must continue the dialogue, inviting the youth to share some of the ideas inserted in the hymn "Stay with us O Lord". While summarizing the shared, the leader should consider the following points:

- Reference to darkness: "darkness is closing in", "the day is near its end", "the night-time air surrounds us", etc.
- The presence of Jesus as light that illuminates the darkness: "If you're with us O Lord, the day will never end".
- Darkness refers to the not so good moments that we go through: sadness, difficulties, anguish, annoyances...
- A light also appears for us: Jesus! With Him "beside us", everything becomes easier.

Then, the leader must relate the theme of the hymn to the previous meeting and introduces the current meeting, highlighting the following aspects:

In the previous meeting we reflected on a biblical passage in which a mother experiences the "night" of the death of her only child, a mother who is going through a very difficult time, perhaps the darkest of her life. Jesus' presence and actions towards her and her son allow her to have light again in her life.

Today, we will also encounter this closeness of Jesus as a source of hope for a family. This time it will be a father who will approach Jesus because his daughter is very ill.

LISTEN

My child, rise up!

The leader must invite the youth to listen to the Bible passage.

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 8:40-42, 49-56)

⁴⁰When Jesus returned, he found the multitude there to greet him; they had all been awaiting him. ⁴¹And now a man named Jairus, who was a ruler of the synagogue, came and fell at Jesus' feet, imploring him to come to his house, ⁴²for he had an only daughter about twelve years old, who was dying. It happened that, as he went, the multitude pressed about him closely. (...) ⁴⁹While he was yet speaking, a messenger came to the ruler of the synagogue, to say, Thy daughter is dead; do not trouble the Master. ⁵⁰Jesus heard it, and said to him openly, Do not be afraid; thou hast only to believe, and she will recover. ⁵¹When he reached the house, he would not let anyone come in with him, except Peter and James and John, and the child's father and mother. ⁵²All were weeping and bewailing her; There is no need to weep, he told them; she is not dead, she is asleep. ⁵³And they laughed aloud at him, well knowing that she was dead. ⁵⁴But he took her by the hand, and called aloud, Rise up, maiden; ⁵⁵and she rose up there and then with life restored to her. He ordered that she should be given something to eat, ⁵⁶and warned her parents, who were beside themselves with wonder, to let no one hear of what had befallen.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

After the proclamation, the leader must show the video commenting the text.

Texts for the video

Text 1

"(...) There was a twelve-year-old girl, dying, waiting for death... or for Jesus. Her father, Jairus, is fighting for his little girl's life, and has come to get Jesus to go to his house and lay his hands of blessing, and thus of good and healing, on his little girl. However, as they walk, his servants arrive, bringing the sad news that death has come to the girl's home before Jesus. The father was certainly heartbroken, as were the other relatives and neighbors, who in such circumstances could only cry and lament, as was customary among the Jews. And Jesus, who until Don Antonio Couto had merely accompanied Jairus here, without saying anything, now says to Jairus the first audible word: "Don't be afraid; just have faith!" (Mk 5:36). Jesus never comes into our lives late. He is the Lord who lingers with us along the way. (...)."

Text 2

"(...) On the Lord's path everyone is admitted. No one should feel like an intruder, an illegal person. From this we understand that on the Lord's path everyone is admitted – no one should feel like an intruder, an illegal person, or someone without rights. To gain access to his heart, to the Heart of Jesus, there is only one condition – to feel in need of healing and to trust him."

Text 3

"(...) For Him no one is untraceable, no one is doomed forever, it is possible to start again and become new. A hand shall lend you help, and in every dawn that hand will repeat what it said to Jairus' daughter, 'Talità kum' – 'Girl, get up!' – Young life, get up, rise, appear, shine, take up the road and the fight again."

Text 4

"In Jesus' time, leaving childhood was a highly anticipated passage in life, one that was celebrated and enjoyed greatly. That is, when Jesus gives life back to the "child" (Mk 5:39), He is making her take a step forward, promoting her, turning her into a "child" (Mk 5:41). At the same time, He tells her 'Girl, get up!' (talitá kum) – He made her more responsible for her life, opening the doors of youth to her."

At the end, the leader must invite the youth to read the biblical text again and, in silence, to imagine the scene. The leader must stress that they must observe how it all begins on the street, in the midst of the crowd, but the healing takes place in the familiarity of home.

Then the leader must challenge them to put themselves in the shoes of some of the characters and reflect on the following points:

In Jesus' place, imagine yourself:

- Being greeted by a crowd.
- Listening to Jairus and, with compassion, granting his request.
- Comforting the girl's father, even when others say she is "dead".
- Being scorned by those who don't believe what you say.
- Healing the girl, away from the "spotlight" of the crowd.

In Jairus' place, imagine:

- Your role in society, being Head of the Synagogue.
- Your suffering, for the situation of your only daughter.
- What it is like to trust Jesus, especially in life's most difficult situations.

In the place of Peter, John and James, imagine yourself:

- Accompanying Jesus, in the midst of a crowd;
- Going with Him into the privacy of Jairus' house.

In the little girl's place, imagine:

- What it will have meant coming back to life.

ASK YOURSELF

What about you?

After imagining the scenes, the youth must individually confront themselves with the message of the text, considering the following questions:

- How do you think that father felt when he learned that his daughter was sick?
- How do you think your parents feel when they know that you are not well?
- Jairus goes to Jesus, but he doesn't ask him for anything for himself. He asks for the healing of his daughter. What about you? Do you usually talk to Jesus and ask Him to take care of other people? Do you talk to Him about the ones you love the most?
- Perhaps there has been already someone bringing you some very bad news. Have you ever felt that you trusted in Jesus and there were people who tried to steal your hope?
- Jesus wakes up the little girl. What about you? Do you need to be woken up?
- How are you becoming more responsible for your life?

RECEIVE

Don't be afraid! Just believe...

At the end of the individual time of meditation and prayer, pairs are formed. The leader must invite them to read the text presented.

Based on the interpretation of the biblical text and on Brother Roger's reading of the text, each pair tries to answer the question, "What is faith?"

Text: The nights of the soul are illuminated

We live in a world where light and darkness coexist.

Could it be that in aspiring for light we can be assailed by doubt? A Russian Christian, Dostoyevsky, instead of worrying about this, wrote, "I am the son of doubt and unbelief... What a great suffering this thirst for belief has endured and endures. It becomes stronger the more I find in myself opposite arguments... It was through the crucible of all doubts that my hosana passed."

Yet Dostoyevsky continues, "There is nothing more beautiful, more profound, and more perfect than Christ – not only is there nothing, but there can also be nothing."

This man of God lets us sense that in him the unbeliever coexists with the believer, and his great love for Christ is ultimately unaffected.

Happy is the one who walks from doubt to the clarity of humbly trusting in God! Just as the morning mist is dissipated, the nights of the soul are illuminated. And it is not an illusory trust, but a limpid trust, which leads to action in concrete situations, which leads to understanding and love.

Several years ago, I lived for a while with some of my brothers in Calcutta, in a very poor neighborhood. Mother Teresa sometimes asked me to accompany her in the afternoon on visits to homes for terminally ill people, where there were lepers who were waiting only for death. And every morning, with one of my brothers, who's a doctor, we'd treat the sickest children. It was an experience that marked me for life. There were children who died in my arms. From day one, we were dealing with a four-month-old girl. Her mother had died shortly after she was born. I was told she probably wouldn't live long. Mother Teresa put her in my arms and asked me insistently to take her to Taizé so that she could receive proper treatment. I said to myself, if this child realizes the restlessness I feel about her possible death, what will happen to her?

She also said, let your restlessness become a trust of faith. As long as this child lives, entrust it to God. By resting her against your heart in her short life, she may at least have made the experience of happiness that brings confidence.

When we arrived in Taizé, the brothers gathered in my room to see the child. I sat the girl, named Marie, on top of my bed and she, for the first time, began to make sounds like a happy baby. Eventually she survived and grew up at my sister Geneviève's house. She's an adult today. I'm her godfather now and I love her as if I was her father."

SHARE

Wake up

At the end of this activity, the youth must sit down still in pairs, and then share with the rest of the group.

The leader must hold a cushion in their hands that is thrown to a pair at a time.

When a youth of one of the pairs throws the pillow at another youth, they say convincingly, "Wake up!"

The one who receives the pillow must share some of what they have reflected on in pairs by answering the question, "What is faith?"

PRAY

The Lord touched your life...

After the sharing, a favorable atmosphere must be created for prayer and, to the sound of background music, two youth slowly read the following text:

Reader #1

The Lord touches your life... WAKE UP!

He does not want you to fall asleep, dizzy, anesthetized, to look at your youth as if it were just a pastime.

Wake up for life! Trust Him!

You may say that you don't know Him, but He knows you well. He knows your name, your qualities, your frailties, your days, your nights, your history.
Wake up! Take the risk!

Moment of silence

Reader #2

Don't be afraid of the darkness, don't be afraid of the difficulties, don't be afraid of other people's opinions!

Grab life by the horns and say, "I'm not alone."

Give your hand to those around you and tell them, "I'm not alone." Look at Jesus and say to him, "I am not alone." WAKE up and rise up...

At the end of the reading, the hymn of the WYD Rome 1986 is sung.

RISE UP

Accompany Jesus like the disciples

The leader must propose the youth to experience visiting the sick living in the parish, remembering the mission of the Church to those who suffer most. This action could take place by accompanying an extraordinary minister of communion in visiting a sick person.

KEEP GOING

Who is Jesus?

To prepare for the next meeting, the leader must invite each youth to ask at least 5 people of different ages and conditions, "Who is Jesus for you?"

YES, I BELIEVE!

+ From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

The Kingdom of God is near

541. "Now after John was arrested, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of God, and saying: 'The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent, and believe in the gospel.'"246 "To carry out the will of the Father Christ inaugurated the kingdom of heaven on earth."247 Now the Father's will is "to raise up men to share in his own divine life".248 He does this by gathering men around his Son Jesus Christ. This gathering is the Church, "on earth the seed and beginning of that kingdom"

PERSONAL PROJECT

#8 Step – I wake up to life

"Don't be afraid! Just believe, and she will be saved." (Lk 8:50)

To live by paying attention to the people around us is a profoundly Christian attitude. "Waking up to life" is an attitude that can manifest itself in caring for those who live near us and need our presence, companionship, and action.

To reflect upon:

- Write down the names of some people in your surroundings who may need your company or attention.
- In what way can your Specific Conversion Step contemplate specific gestures of closeness to some of these people? (remake your Specific Conversion Step)

MEETING #9

Rise up and follow the Risen Jesus (Lk 9:18-25)

The objectives of this meeting are:

- To discover who Jesus is for the world and for oneself.
- To deepen the criteria for following Jesus Christ.
- To witness in one's life a personal faith in Jesus Christ.

Information for the leader:

- In this meeting the challenge launched in the previous meeting should be considered. Youth are invited to share the answers they have gotten from their friends and family to the question, "Who is Jesus for you?"
- In practical terms the idea would be to divide this meeting into two moments:
 - 1st moment: "Prepare", "Listen" and "Receive" sections
 - 2nd moment: "Ask yourself", "Share", "Pray" and "Get Up" sections
- According to the group's own spiritual journey, the "Ask Yourself" moment can be done in front of the Blessed Sacrament in an oratory, chapel, or outdoors.
- According to the spiritual journey and the size of the group, the "Share" moment can be done in a large group or in smaller groups, so that the sharing can be an effective sharing of life.

Necessary material:

- Cross.
- Globe or world map.
- Video - Pope warns against ideological Christianity (May 7, 2020):

GET READY

Firm in the faith

The cross of Christ, the globe/map of the world, and the Bible should be placed in a prominent place in the meeting room.

The leader must launch the initial challenge by recalling the different meanings of the verb "to rise up" talked about in previous meetings. They must conclude by stating that as Christians we are called to stand up, to live upright, resurrected, following Jesus Christ, the Risen One.

Then the leader must propose the following exercise:

- Everyone stands up in pairs, and for two minutes they walk around and talk about the answers they got about who Jesus Christ is, noting the similarities/differences.
- Then, they switch pairs and walk and talk about the same thing again, but this time hopping.

At the end, make a reflection about the lived experience, developing the following aspects:

In which of the modalities did you succeed and feel better talking?

- And if one foot were our humanity and the other our faith, what conclusions could we draw from this exercise?

The leader must help the youth to become aware of how important it is to stand firm in faith in order to make a life journey. If we don't live firmly in it, the difficulties are greater, and we put our own identity at risk.

Then the leader must motivate them to listen to the hymn of the WYD 2011 in Madrid:

Firm in the Faith - WYD 2011 Hymn in Madrid

Firmes en la fe, firmes en la fe!

We go forward in Christ, he's our companion and he is Lord!

Glory be to him! Glory be to him!

We go forward in Christ, made stronger in our faith.

1. Your love, it builds us up and keeps us rooted,
Your cross, it gives us constant strength and courage,
Your flesh, it ever saves us and sustains us,
Your blood, it flows to cheer us and renew us.
Oh, Christ, you are our brother,
Oh, Christ, you are our friend, you are our Lord,
Make us firm in the faith, make us firm in the faith!

2. Your hands, they hold us when we have been wounded,
Your eyes, they purify the way we see things,
Your lips, they speak to us words of forgiveness,
Your feet, they guide our steps to find life's fullness.
Oh, Christ, you are our brother,
Oh, Christ, you are our friend, you are our Lord,
!Make us firm in the faith, make us firm in the faith!

3. We are the young, and Mary journeys with us,
And like a joyful bride she sings your praises;
With her we too shall sing and praise your triumph,
Because already death has been defeated.
Oh, Christ, you are our brother,
Oh, Christ, you are our friend, you are our Lord,
!Make us firm in the faith, make us firm in the faith!
Firmes en la fe...

LISTEN

Who do the crowds say that I am?

The leader must now introduce the proclamation of the biblical text, drawing attention to the first two questions (Lk 9:18-25).

The Gospel according to St. Luke (Lk 9:18-25)

«¹⁸There was a time when he had gone apart to pray, and his disciples were with him; and he asked them, Who do the multitude say that I am? ¹⁹They answered, John the Baptist; others say Elias; others, that one of the old prophets has returned to life. ²⁰Then he said to them, But who do you say that I am? And Peter answered, Thou art the Christ whom God has anointed. ²¹And he laid a strict charge upon them, bidding them tell no one of it; ²²The Son of Man, he said, is to be much ill-used, and rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be put to death, and rise again on the third day. ²³And he said to all alike, If any man has a mind to come my way, let him renounce self, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. ²⁴He who tries to save his life will lose it; it is the man who loses his life for my sake, that will save it. ²⁵How is a man the better for gaining the whole world, if he loses himself, if he pays the forfeit of himself?

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

In small groups, the youth must reflect on the following points:

- The two questions, “Who do the crowds say that I am? But who do you say that I am?” are a distinction between how the crowds and the disciples see Jesus. What is the reason for this difference?
- Some look at Jesus from the outside, others see Him from the inside, from the intimacy and relationship they have with Him. How do you relate these two levels to the interviews you did?
- This is the first time that the verb “rise up” is applied to Jesus. To rise coincides here with the verb to resurrect. What does this “rising up” of Jesus mean?
- In the text, what is said of Jesus’ identity? And of the identity of the disciple?

The leader must moderate a plenary for the groups, based on the following aspects:

- From the moment they were called, the disciples had already made a long journey with Jesus. Recall some of the texts from the previous meetings that you consider most important.
- The moment comes for Jesus to question them directly. There is what is seen from the outside, what others say about Him, and what the disciples see from within. The disciple cannot be satisfied with what he hears, but is called to take a deeper stand about Jesus.
- The verb “to rise up” is identified with the resurrection of Jesus. He is the Christ of God, the one who is chosen and anointed by the Father and who in his death and resurrection saves us.
- A personal response regarding the discovery of Jesus’ true identity is precisely what the youth are expected to give, with the help of the following texts.

RECEIVE

(challenged to give an answer)

Keeping the same groups, the leader must invite the youth to read one of the following texts and answer the presented questions.

Dear youth, Christ also addresses you today with the same question He asked the apostles:

"And you, who do you say that I am?" Answer Him with generosity and courage, as befits a young heart like yours. Say to Him: "Jesus, I know that You are the Son of God, who gave Your life for me. I want to follow you faithfully and let myself be guided by your word. You know and love me. I trust in You and place my whole life in Your hands. I want you to be the strength that sustains me, the joy that never abandons me. (...)"

Dear youth, allow me, as the Successor of Peter, to invite you to strengthen this faith that has been handed down to us since the Apostles, to place Christ, the Son of God, at the center of your life.

But let me also remind you that to follow Jesus in faith is to walk with Him in the communion of the Church. One cannot follow Jesus alone. Whoever gives in to the temptation to follow "on his own" or to live the faith according to the individualistic mentality that prevails in society, runs the risk of never meeting Jesus Christ, or of ending up following a false image of Him.

To have faith is to lean on the faith of your brothers and sisters, and to make your faith serve as a support for the faith of others as well. I ask you, dear friends, to love the Church, which has generated you in faith, which has helped you to know Christ better, which has made you discover the beauty of His love. For the growth of your friendship with Christ it is fundamental to recognize the importance of your happy insertion in the parishes, communities and movements, as well as the participation in the Eucharist every Sunday, the frequent reception of the sacrament of forgiveness and the cultivation of prayer and meditation of the Word of God.

And from this friendship with Jesus will also be born the impulse to give witness to the faith in the most diverse environments, including places where rejection or indifference prevails. It is impossible to encounter Christ and not make Him known to others. Therefore, do not keep Christ for yourselves.

Communicate to others the joy of your faith. The world needs the witness of your faith; it certainly needs God.

Pope Benedict XVI,
26th World Youth Day,
Final Eucharist's Homily, 2011

Text 2

In the Gospel passage (...), the question (...) is re-presented: who is Jesus? But this time, it is Jesus himself who asks it to the disciples, gradually helping them to face the question of their identity. Before questioning the Twelve directly, Jesus wants to hear from them what people think about him - and he knows well that the disciples are very sensitive to popularity of the Master! Therefore, he asks, "Who do men say that I am?" It stands out that Jesus is considered by the people to be a great prophet. But, in reality, he is not interested in the polls and the people's gossip. He does not even accept that his disciples answer his questions with ready-made formulas, quoting famous figures from Sacred Scripture, because a faith that is reduced to formulas is a short-sighted faith.

The Lord wants his disciples of yesterday and today to establish a personal relationship with him, and thus to welcome him into the center of their lives. For this reason, he encourages them to place themselves in all truth before themselves, and asks, "And you, who do you say that I am?" Today, Jesus makes this very direct and confidential request to each of us: "You, who do you say that I am? You, who do you say that I am? Who am I for you?" Each one is called to answer, in his own heart, letting himself be enlightened by the light that the Father gives us in order to know his Son Jesus. And it can also happen that we, like Peter, enthusiastically affirm: "You are the Christ". However, when Jesus clearly communicates to us what he told his disciples, that is, that his mission is fulfilled not on the broad road to success, but on the arduous path of the Suffering Servant, humiliated, rejected and crucified, then it can also happen to us as it did to Peter, to protest and rebel because this contrasts with our expectations, with worldly expectations. (...)

Brothers and sisters, the profession of faith in Jesus Christ cannot be limited to words, but demands to be authenticated with concrete choices and gestures, with a life characterized by the love of God, with a great life, with a life full of love for our neighbor.

Jesus tells us that to follow him, to be his disciples, we must deny ourselves, that is, deny the pretensions of our own selfish pride, and carry our own cross. Then he gives everyone a fundamental rule. And what is this rule? "Whoever wants to save his life will lose it." Many times, in life, for various reasons, we go astray, seeking happiness only in things or in people we treat as things. But we find happiness only in love, the real one, finds us, surprises us, changes us. Love changes everything! And love can also change us, each one of us. The testimonies of the saints demonstrate this.

Pope Francis,
Angelus, September 16, 2018

May the Virgin Mary, who lived her faith faithfully following her Son Jesus, help us also to walk on his road, generously dedicating our lives to Him and to our brothers and sisters.

After reading one of the texts, the youth must answer the following questions:

- What main challenges are presented in the text?
- How do they introduce me to the true face of Jesus?
- How do these challenges invite me to achieve the theme of this meeting – get up and follow Jesus?

The pondering is followed by a brief sharing of the answers. The leader must write on a board some key words resulting from the youth's presentations.

The leader must introduce the next moment, pointing out that the texts read challenge us to cultivate a personal disciple-like relationship with Jesus.

ASK YOURSELF AND PRAY

Who do you say I am?

The leader must prepare the youth for the time of prayer, suggesting that they give quality time to Jesus, letting Him speak to each one's heart and help them see more deeply. The meditation is based on the following questions:

- Who is Jesus for me?
- How relevant is He in my life, and in my decisions?
- Is my life different because I know and follow Jesus?
- Is my daily life different because I am a Christian?
- How do I live following the risen Jesus Christ, the one who "rose up"?

Then the leader must explain how each youth must manage their time for personal prayer:

- By choosing an appropriate place.
- By carefully reading the commentaries to the biblical text.
- By seeking, at last, a time of deep dialogue with Jesus.

I let myself choose the place for praying:

- I am placing myself before the Lord, and becoming aware of His presence here and now.
- I am begging Him to provide me with the grace of being attentive to what He wants to say to me and of being available for whatever He asks of me.

Clues for praying:

"And it happened that, while He was praying alone, the disciples were with Him. So, He asked them..."

- We often find Jesus praying, showing a close relationship with His Father. And this always happens in significant moments of His life – in moments of making big decisions, of choices to be made. I let myself be found by Him here and now. I am also immersing myself into prayer, letting Him question me as He did to the disciples.
- What does His attitude of prayer say to my life?
- How and with whom do I make my decisions? In my day, what times and spaces do I use to be with Him?

"He said to them, "But who do you say that I am? Peter, answering, said, "The Christ of God."

- Perhaps Jesus, too, needed to ask himself, "Who am I?" An existential question that we too surely ask ourselves throughout our lives. A question never fully answered about knowing oneself. But as disciples of Jesus, incorporated into Him in Baptism and therefore with His same identity, the question that concerns us is also, "But who do you say that I am?" Who is the Lord for me? It is the question that places us on the path of following Him.
- With the example of Peter, the disciple who represents us, we know that it is possible to give a punctual answer, an answer that is formally correct, an answer that says exactly what the identity of Jesus is. But we also know that this answer may not mean an expression of sincere faith, it may be pure rhetoric. That is why it is a question that must always be reformulated so that the disciple's life is always more in conformity with the identity of the Lord.

- Who do I say today that the Lord Jesus is? What does it mean for me to be a disciple of a Lord who is "the Christ of God"?

"It is necessary for the Son of Man to suffer much, to be rejected by the elders, the chief priests and the teachers of the law, to be killed, and on the third day to rise again."

- Jesus is clear in his message; He does not deceive us by showing an easy way to please us. He knows well what life is made of – suffering, rejection, death, and resurrection!
- What is my experience of suffering in life? What is my experience of being rejected? What is my experience of "turning around," getting up and moving on through life? I let myself talk with Jesus about these experiences.

And he was saying to everyone, "If anyone wants to come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow me. For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it."

- These are the three radical demands Jesus places on those who want to follow him – deny yourself, take your cross with you each day, and lose your life. These are, in fact, the aspects of the movement that He took upon Himself, while coming into the world, to give us life. In reality He asks nothing of us that He has not lived first.
- To deny oneself means renouncing to a self-centered life, saving ourselves with our own strength. The denial of the self that Jesus asks of us is abandoning ourselves with all our heart and all our strength to His love, that is stronger than death. It is to live the passage from being self-centered in our own interests to an ever-greater giving of ourselves to others. And that means to firmly live faith, as a risen, and resurrected person.
- To carry our daily cross is to learn to love with the simplicity of the daily life, to be loyal to the values of the Gospel, to have the same attitudes as Jesus in the specific presented situations. And that means to firmly live faith, as a risen, and resurrected person.
- To lose the life of oneself means letting Him act in us and through us, until we can repeat after St. Paul, "It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me" (Gal 2:20). And that is to firmly live faith, as a risen, and resurrected person.
- This path that Jesus proposes to us is truly a demanding one, but it is also deeply liberating.
- How do I feel when I face these challenges that Jesus launches me?
- Which one of them do I experience as being personally addressed to me at this moment?
- What difficulties, resistances and fears do I experience?

Conversation with the Lord

- I let myself talk to the Lord about His questions, about what challenges me the most, about the desire for freedom that I carry in my heart...

Conclusion

- I let myself conclude this individual moment by writing a short prayer to share with the rest of the group.

PRAY

Jesus's response

Still in a prayerful atmosphere, the youth gather again in a large group for a community prayer.

Song: O Christe Domine Jesu, O Christe Domine Jesu! (Taizé)

Reader 1: Acreditar em Jesus, o Filho unigénito do Pai é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Reader 2: Ser discípulo de Jesus é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Reader 3: Professar que Jesus é o Cristo é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Reader 4: Negar-se a si mesmo é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Reader 5: Tomar a cruz de cada dia é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Reader 6: Perder a própria vida é viver firme na fé, levantado, ressuscitado.

Song: O Christe Domine Jesu, O Christe Domine Jesu!

SHARE

After the prayer there is a moment for sharing each youth's prayers that can be intertwined with singing.

RISE UP

Profess your faith

It is suggested that in a celebration of the Christian community, the youth make a solemn profession of faith that includes the testimony of the experience of this first year of the Rise Up itinerary.

KEEP GOING

Finish the preparation of the group life project.

YES, I BELIEVE!

+ From the Catechism of the Catholic Church

Faith is a grace

153. "When St. Peter confessed that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God, Jesus declared to him that this revelation did not come "from flesh and blood", but from "my Father who is in heaven". [Mt 16:17; cf. Gal 1:15; Mt 11:25.] Faith is a gift of God, a supernatural virtue infused by him. "Before this faith can be exercised, man must have the grace of God to move and assist him; he must have the interior helps of the Holy Spirit, who moves the heart and converts it to God, who opens the eyes of the mind and 'makes it easy for all to accept and believe the truth.'"

PERSONAL PROJECT

#9 Step – I share my faith

"But who do you say that I am?" (Lk 9:20)

As we come to the end of a first stage of our journey, question yourself about the state of your relationship with Jesus, the one you have been strengthening so far.

To reflect upon:

- Who is Jesus for me?
- Do I want to be like Him? In what way?
- How do I want to follow Him? What steps do I take to live more like Him?
- Final evaluation of the Specific Conversion Step.

ANNEX I

Penitential celebration for youth

The following readings are intended to motivate reflection and one's own examination of conscience. After each reading, there is a short pause, and the young person is invited to pray in silence and write on a note (on an individual piece of paper that is available to each person) the occasions in their life when they have found the treasure of God's presence in their life, and the occasions when they have done evil that they did not want to do.

Adaptation of the proposal for a Penitential Celebration to be used in a youth context, with the theme RESTORATION OF LIFE ACCORDING TO THE CHRISTIAN VOCATION from the book "Celebration of Penance", Second Edition, that belongs to the Roman Ritual, approved by the Portuguese Bishops' Conference.

While preparing for the Penitential Celebration, the youth should be invited as soon as possible, so that they may choose or compose the texts and hymns, and choose the readers and choir from among them. The celebration can be led by an ordained minister or a group leader.

Once the youth have gathered...

The leader greets them, saying:

Leader: In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.
(All make the sign of the cross and respond:)

All: Amen.

Leader: The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Love of God, and the Communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all.

All: And with your spirit.

Leader: We have come together to do penance and to renew our lives. Doing penance certainly has a difficult and painful aspect, but it is above all something happy. Renewing life has to do with the past, but it has much more to do with the future. In fact, through penance, God opens for us a new way, which leads us more and more to the perfect freedom of His children. Christ, by inviting us to conversion, shows us the way to the kingdom of his Father. From the Holy Spirit we receive the strength to be able to abandon our past life, and to live a new, but beautiful and true life.

Song

Simplicity (by Rend Collective)

Everyone prays in silence for a while.

Leader: Lord our God, you call us from darkness to Your light, from lies to truth, and from death to life, give us the Holy Spirit, who strengthens our hearts, and opens our ears that we may be able to respond to Your call and to advance decisively on the way of the truly Christian life.

All: Amen.

Reading (Rom 7:18-25)

Reader: A Reading from the Epistle of the apostle St. Paul to the Romans

¹⁸Of this I am certain, that no principle of good dwells in me, that is, in my natural self; praiseworthy intentions are always ready to hand, but I cannot find my way to the performance of them; ¹⁹it is not the good my will prefers, but the evil my will disapproves, that I find myself doing. ²⁰And if what I do is something I have not the will to do, it cannot be I that bring it about, it must be the sinful principle that dwells in me. ²¹This, then, is what I find about the law, that evil is close at my side, when my will is to do what is praiseworthy. ²²Inwardly, I applaud God's disposition, ²³but I observe another disposition in my lower self, which raises war against the disposition of my conscience, and so I am handed over as a captive to that disposition towards sin which my lower self contains. ²⁴Pitiable creature that I am, who is to set me free from a nature thus doomed to death? ²⁵Nothing else than the grace of God, through Jesus Christ our Lord. If I am left to myself, my conscience is at God's disposition, but my natural powers are at the disposition of sin.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God

Responsorial Psalm 118 (119), 33 – 34; 76 – 77; 93 – 94.96 and 105

Refrain: Teach me, Lord, the way of your decrees to be faithful to the end.

Give me understanding to keep your law and to do it with all my heart.

Console me in your goodness, according to the promise made to your servant.
Let your mercies come down upon me, and I shall live, for your law is my delight.
I will never forget your decrees because in them you have given me life.
To you I belong, be my help, because I have always wanted to follow your precepts.
In all perfect things I find limits, but your law is great, without measure.
Your word is a beacon for my steps and a light for my paths.

Instead of singing or reciting the Psalm, a moment of silence can also be made.

Gospel Acclamation (cf. Mt 11:25)

according to the time of the Liturgical Year

Grace to you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because you have hidden these things from the wise and learned, and revealed them to little children.

Can either be sung or recited.

The Gospel ought to be read by an ordained minister, deacon or priest. In their absence it can be read by one of the leader.

Gospel of Our Lord Jesus Christ according to Saint Mathew (Mt 13:44-46)

⁴⁴The kingdom of heaven is like a treasure hidden in a field; a man has found it and hidden it again, and now, for the joy it gives him, is going home to sell all that he has and buy that field. ⁴⁵Again, the kingdom of heaven is as if a trader were looking for rare pearls: ⁴⁶and now he has found one pearl of great cost, and has sold all that he had and bought it.

The word of the Lord.

All: Thanks be to God!

If there is an ordained minister there can be a short homily. Otherwise, the leader must give a brief explanation of the nature of sin, which fights inside us against God, and the need to abandon a sinful path to enter the kingdom of God, as well as the importance of the examination of conscience in order to grow in this path.

After the explanation of the Word of God, there must be silence and an individual examination of conscience, using or not the ideas written down on paper, and adding new ones. For this moment it is appropriate to use the form of examination of conscience proposed in "Meeting #3 - 'Get up and let yourself be healed'" or another suitable form for youth.

After the examination of conscience, the group leader invites prayer:

Our Lord Jesus Christ has called sinners into the kingdom of his Father. Therefore, let now each one make in their inmost heart, an act of contrition, with a firm purpose of amendment.

After a short time of silence, all say together:

I confess to almighty God and to you, my brothers, and sisters, that I have greatly sinned,
in my thoughts and in my words, in what I have done and in what I have failed to do, through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault;
therefore I ask blessed Mary ever-Virgin,
all the Angels and Saints, and you, my brothers and sisters,
to pray for me to the Lord our God.

A moment of sacramental reconciliation can be organized with one or more priests. For this, it might be convenient to prepare several spaces for the priest and the penitent so that both can be comfortable with the appropriate conditions of serenity and privacy.

In case of sacramental reconciliation not being possible at this moment, the invitation and challenge to each one to experience this sacrament soon should be well expressed.

After this moment, the youth are invited to place their unidentified notes and pieces of paper correctly folded in the center. The pieces of paper must either be burned or dipped in water, in the presence of all. Both symbols (fire and water) symbolize the divine mercy that embraces everyone and changes all realities.

Leader: Lord our God, You know everything. You know that we have a sincere desire to meet You and to serve You and our brothers and sisters better. Look at us and listen to our prayers. Let us all say:

All: Hear us, Lord.

Reader: Give us the grace of a true conversion.

All. Hear us, O Lord.

Let the spirit of penance be born in us.

All. Hear us, Lord.

Forgive us our sins, and look not upon our faults.

All. Hear us, O Lord.

Fill us with confidence and give us a new and pure heart.

All. Hear us, Lord.

Forgive the violent acts we have committed and the hurtful words we have spoken.

All. Hear us, Lord.

Take no account of our pride, nor of our faults in prayer.

All. Hear us, Lord.

Make us faithful disciples and living members of the community.

All. Hear us, Lord.

Leader: And now, as Christ taught us, let us call upon the Lord our God, who does not want the sinner to die, but to be converted and live, and let us beg him to accept the confession of our sins and grant us his great mercy.

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us;
And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

Leader:

The Blessing of Almighty God
Father and Son and Holy Spirit
Come upon us and remain with us forever

All: Amen.

Final song of thanksgiving

Community celebration of the Solemn Profession of Faith

At the end of the first year of pilgrimage of this itinerary, the youth are called to solemnly profess their faith. This step will be taken in the context of the Eucharist, in front of the symbols of the World Youth Days (cross of Christ and icon of Our Lady), where they will testify (during the homily) and it will be proposed to the community to assume the journey they have made. An entrance ceremony should be held to contextualize the celebration, in which those who are being confirmed (and/or have been confirmed this year) can participate as a form of integration into this formative journey towards the WYD. The youth must be involved in the experience of the liturgy!

Testimony

1. During the homily, after a brief reflection on the Word of God, the priest can invite a youth (or several) to give a testimony of the journey they have made.
2. While preparing this celebration, it is convenient to decide who will give the testimony, promoting a better preparation for it.
3. We will now present some aspects that may be useful:
 - To briefly present the general objective of the path taken (preparation for WYD).
 - To explain the steps taken up to that point and some details of the itinerary (for example, the general theme and its connection with the theme of WYD: "Rise Up").
 - To share some moments that have been remarkable for the youth or the group.
 - To challenge other youth to join this project and motivate the community for the WYD.
4. None of these aspects are mandatory. Over all, youth authenticity and the sharing of personal experiences should be privileged.

Solemn Profession of Faith:

The proposal would be that each group makes its own solemn profession of faith. If you so choose, you can use the following possibility involving the youth and with them the whole community.

The youth approach the altar and make their solemn profession of faith:

Youth: I believe in God the Father, Creator and all-powerful in Love. I want to relate to Him every day as a beloved son.

All: So that it may be so, with you we firmly live faith, as risen, and resurrected ones!

Youth: I believe in Jesus Christ of whom I make myself a disciple every day, denying myself and joyfully carrying my cross.

All: So that it may be so, with you we firmly live faith, as risen, and resurrected ones!

Youth: I believe in the Holy Spirit, from whom I receive all the gifts. Each day, I want to let myself be guided by Him and announce to everyone that Jesus is the living and risen Christ.

All: So that it may be so, with you we firmly live faith, as risen, and resurrected ones!

Youth: I believe in the Church, in which I want to continue growing in faith and, together with everyone, put my life at the service of those most in need.

All: So that it may be so, with you we firmly live faith, as risen, and resurrected ones!

Rise Up and Pray the Rosary

Introduction on the message of Fatima

In 1917, from May until October, always on the 13th day of each month, Our Lady, Mary, the mother of Jesus, appeared to three children in Fátima in the Center of Portugal. This place became one of the main places of devotion to Mary in the whole world, having been visited by several Popes. These three children were named Lúcia, the oldest one (10 years old), Francisco (9 years old) and Jacinta, the youngest one (7 years old). Mary transmitted to these children a message for all mankind, that there would be the promotion of peace in the world, above all through personal conversion, prayer, and devotion to Mary, in union with the Holy Father. Throughout this rosary prayer we will be inspired by the message that Mary transmitted to these children.

1st Mystery – The Annunciation to Mary

From the Gospel of Luke

In the sixth month, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town in Galilee called Nazareth, to a virgin betrothed to a man named Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. As she entered her home, the angel said to her, "Hail, thou who art full of grace; the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women. Mary, do not be afraid; thou hast found favour in the sight of God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and shalt bear a son, and shalt call him Jesus. The Holy Spirit will come upon thee, and the power of the most High will overshadow thee. Thus this holy offspring of thine shall be known for the Son of God.' And Mary said, 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord; let it be unto me according to thy word. And with that the angel left her'".

At the Angel's announcement, Mary heard the invitation to wholly give herself to God. Her hidden but committed "yes" resulted in the greatest blessing of all – the Jesus' salvation of all humanity.

When Mary appeared at Fátima, she asked Jacinta, Francisco and Lúcia if they wanted to offer themselves to God for the salvation of the lost. Like her companions, Jacinta (the youngest of the three) also said "yes" with great determination. Already sick with the Spanish flu, Jacinta told Lucia: "Our Lady came to see us and said that she was going to take Francisco to Heaven very soon. And to me she asked if I wanted to convert even more sinners. I told her yes."

Intention: Let us ask Jesus to give us a generous heart that is always available to accept his will.

2nd Mystery – The Visitation of Mary to Elizabeth

From the Gospel of Luke

"In the days that followed, Mary rose up and went with all haste to a town of Judah, in the hill country where Zachary dwelt; and there entering in she gave Elizabeth greeting. No sooner had Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, than the child leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth herself was filled with the Holy Ghost; so that she cried out with a loud voice, Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb." (Lk 1:39-42)

Mary got up, left her comfort zone, and went with haste to meet her cousin Elizabeth who needed help.

In Fátima, when Lúcia learned that she would be interrogated and pressured to deny Our Lady's apparitions, Jacinta stood up and, along with Francisco, prayed that Lucia would not weaken. Jacinta said to Lúcia, "I'll get up at once and go and call Francisco. Let's go to your water well and pray. When you come back, go there."

Intention: In this mystery of the rosary let us ask Jesus for a heart that worries of others, attentive to those who need our presence and our prayer.

3rd Mystery – The birth of Jesus

From the Gospel of Luke

"It was while they were still there that the time came for her delivery. She brought forth a son, her first-born, whom she wrapped in his swaddling-clothes, and laid in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn. When the angels had left them, and gone back into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, 'Come, let us make our way to Bethlehem, and see for ourselves this happening which God has made known to us.' And so they went with all haste, and found Mary and Joseph there, with the child lying in the manger." (Lk 2:6-7; 15-16)

Jesus was born for everyone in the poverty of Bethlehem. He became close to everyone. Mary presents and takes Jesus to the small and poor people who visit the manger.

Little Jacinta also took Jesus to the who needed Him the most. One day in Fátima, a poor woman came to Jacinta, crying, on her knees, asking Our Lady to cure her of a very serious illness. "When Jacinta saw a woman kneeling before her, she was distressed and took her trembling hands to lift her up. But seeing that she was unable to do so, she also knelt down and prayed three Hail Marys with the woman." She prayed for her every day, until one day she returned to give thanks for her cure.

Intention: By remembering the birth of Jesus for all, we affirm that we want to be the presence of Jesus for those who need to feel His closeness.

4th Mystery – The Presentation of Jesus in the Temple

From the Gospel of Luke

"And when the time had come for purification according to the law of Moses, they brought him up to Jerusalem, to present him before the Lord there. It is written in God's law, that whatever male offspring opens the womb is to be reckoned sacred to the Lord " (Lk 2:22-23)

Mary and Joseph went to the Temple to consecrate their son Jesus to God. To consecrate has a meaning close to sacrifice. It means to dedicate to God's service, to make something or someone sacred.

Starting from Our Lady's request, Jacinta made a sacrifice of everything she could and could remember to offer to God for others. And when she made a sacrifice, she would say, "O my Jesus, it is for Your love, for the conversion of sinners, for the Holy Father, and in reparation for the sins committed against the Immaculate Heart of Mary."

Intention: We ask Jesus to give us a generous heart to do everything in our lives for the love of God and others.

5th Mystery – The loss and encounter of Jesus in the Temple

From the Gospel of Luke

"Every year, his parents used to go up to Jerusalem at the paschal feast (...) and completing the days of its observance, they set about their return home. But the boy Jesus, unknown to his parents, continued his stay in Jerusalem. (...) [I]t was only after three days that they found him. He was sitting in the temple, in the midst of those who taught there, listening to them and asking them questions[.] (...) [H]e asked them, 'What reason had you to search for me? Could you not tell that I must needs be in the place which belongs to my Father?'" (Lk 2:41, 43, 46, 49)

At the age of 12 Jesus goes with his parents to the Temple and, without Mary or Joseph realizing it, He stays there, in His Father's house. The temple is, par excellence, the place of prayer and encounter with God. In prayer we become closer to God, and with Him we intercede for others.

When she was already ill, Jacinta insisted on going to Mass on Sunday, even when she was far away and already ill. Lucia narrates that she used to tell her, "Jacinta, don't come [to Mass]; you can't. Today is not Sunday!" Jacinta answered her, "It doesn't matter. I'm going for the sinners who don't even go on Sunday."

Intention: When we enter a church, we ask Jesus to give us a sense of the sacred and of the sublime experience of meeting Jesus while celebrating the Mass.

Young man, I say to you, get up! (Luke 7, 14)

'Now get up and stand on your feet. I have appeared to you to appoint you as a servant and as a witness of what you have seen and will see of me! (Acts 26, 16)
